FDR ASKS FOR DOUBLING OF SECURITY TAX

Writes Letter Opposing Plan To Drop Automatic Boost In Payroll Levy.

SAYS RAISE NECESSARY

President Plans Expansion of Social Security Setup To Include Farm Labor.

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON — President Roosevelt notified congress today that the doubling of Social Security taxes next January 1 would be "not only in accord with the necessities of the Social Security system itself, but at the same time would contribute to the non-inflationary financing of rapidly mounting war expenditures."

In a letter to Chairman George (D., Ga.) of the senate finance committee, the president expressed opposition to a committee-approved amendment to the new revenue bill which would freeze payroll taxes at their present levels of 1 per cent on employers and a like amount on employes for 1943.

This amendment, adopted by the committee on motion of Senator Vandenberg (R., Mich.) but not yet voted upon by the senate, would stay an otherwise automatic increase of the tax on Jan. 1 to 2 per cent each on employers and employes.

The president said that as soon as congress had disposed of the pending tax bill, he was planning to submit a comprehensive program for expanding and extending the whole Social Security system along the lines he had suggested in his budget message last January.

At that time the president proposed to enlarge the system to take in many workers not now covered, such as farm laborers and domestics.

Conversion of the proposed 5 per cent victory tax into a vehicle for compulsory savings was predicted today by Senator Taft (R., Ohio) as leaders urged ac-

Irate Grocer Hits People as 'Hogs' For Hoarding

MEDINA—(U.P.)—Daniel R. Pelton is a Medina grocer who has seen so much hoarding that he is just plain disgusted.

He felt so incensed over the shortages of foodstuffs brought about by hoarders that he ran a quarter page newspaper advertisement under the caption, "This war proves man evolved from monkeys and hogs." He signed it, "Pelton's — Incomplete Food Store."

The notice read:

"All the monkeys need to do to get the hogs busy is to tell them six or eight weeks ahead of rationing that coffee, tea, salmon, tuna, bean sprouts, baked beans, meat and what not is about gone.

"They will rob the baby's bank; quit paying the preacher; stop paying their honest debts to get cash to run all over God's

STAY FOR DADS

Taft Would Defer Those Over 30, Draft Boys of 19.

WASHINGTON —(INS)— Sen. Robert A. Taft (R) Ohio, today introduced a bill which would postpone drafting of fathers over 30 years of age, and providing for drafting of boys of 19 but not including the 18 year olds.

The Taft bill also proposed to scrap Chairman Paul V. McNutt's manpower commission and transfer the whole selective service system to a new commission.

2,000 WALK OUT

Quit War Jobs as 400 Are Sent Home For Smoking.

DETROIT —(U.P.)— A walkout of 2,000 men employed on war production was reported by a spokesman for Chrysler corporation today after 400 workers were sent home for smoking on the job in violation of a plant rule.

BLAZE DESTROYS GRAIN

VAN WERT—(AP)—Thirty thousand bushels of grain went up in flames today as fire destroyed the Odenweller Milling company elevator at Middlepoint. The cause was not determined immediately.

Whistles at Plants Flop As Warnings

Mansfield's Test Alarm Proves Sirens Needed For Air Raids.

Mansfield's test air raid signal alarm yesterday evening was a complete success—it proved beyond question that factory whistles are a flop.

However, the use of these whistles in conjunction with mobile sirens on police and fire equipment and ambulances will be required until adequate siren signal alarms are installed, Judge G. E. Kalbfleisch, defense coordinator, announced today following conferences last night with James A. McDermid, technical committee chairman, and Attorney Glenn W. Marriott, chief warden. Action was taken today looking to the acquisition of satisfactory equipment.

Reports from 25 air wardens stationed at key points throughout the city revealed that only one—posted on Reba avenue—actually heard the test alarms which were sounded as short blasts of whistles at Westinghouse, Ohio Brass, Empire Steel, Mansfield Tire and Rubber, Tappan Stove and Ideal Electric plants and the municipal waterworks plant at Woodland and Cook roads.

In the south end the waterworks blasts were heard distinctly while up to three miles east of the city other whistles were heard. The downtown sector and the west and north sides were unable to hear the test warnings, except vaguely in isolated instances.

"The test did prove that air wardens were on the job throughout the city," Kalbfleisch and Marriott agreed. "They listened valiantly but only a few heard vaguely.

TALKS IN GALION

Herbert Assails Dem Platform as 'Phoney' in Address.

GALION—Atty. Gen Thomas J. Herbert told a meeting of the Republican Women's club here last night that "the Democratic state platform is either phoney or they are planning new taxes."

Immediate distribution of the $20,000,000 state surplus in the face of certain decrease in state revenues and promised increased state expenditures would make additional taxes inevitable, Herbert asserted in a prepared address.

Democratic leaders have called for distribution of the surplus to local sub-divisions.

High School Pupils Direct Own Scrap Drive, Deny They're 'Too Big' for Vital War Task

Holiday Ordered For Collection Next Week.

After viewing their own scrap pile in comparison with other schools, and, backed by an indignant reaction of the student body, "M" association members at Mansfield Senior high school moved today to take charge of the scrap salvage campaign at the school.

Almost without exception, pupils queried by The News-Journal today denied that they were "too big" to hunt scrap for the country's war effort as Principal Glenn G. Rohleder had said yesterday. In fact they were concerned to know whether the principal's remarks was intended as a "slam."

Observing that apparently nothing was being done to organize the drive, "M" association members called a meeting for this afternoon to discuss plans for taking over the leadership of the salvage campaign.

"We have to get rolling and get organized — the school doesn't seem to "give a hang" was the opinion expressed by one member who added "things will be different when the boys got started."

Meanwhile, Supt. of Schools W. L. Miller said today tht all fourth, fifth and sixth grade pupils in the city's elementary schools would be dismissed at noon next Wednesday to conduct a house-to-house scrap collection campaign.

Pupils will be assigned to communities and streets and will pick up all the small articles of scrap they can carry. They will report where large pieces of scrap have been found and trucks will be sent out to pick them up.

A big collection of six tons of scrap was hauled away from John Simpson junior high school yesterday, representing the amount collected by pupils during the week, according to Carl L. Stough, county salvage chairman. He said other schools would be contacted today and their collections tabulated.

All John Simpson pupils who collected 10 pounds or more yesterday—received free tickets to the movie "Laddie," and short films on the Coral Sea and Midway Island battles in the school auditorium yesterday afternoon.

Although various opinions were expressed by students and teachers, the majority questioned agreed that "we could and should do something to help in this national issue."

"I think it was a good thing to get our drive started. We had it coming to us," was the opinion of

Bearing out the fact that youngsters are doing the big job in the Mansfield schools' scrap drive, these first graders of Woodland school, while on a nature walk under guidance of Miss Vera Smythe, teacher, salvaged a 40-foot length of steel cable which they dragged to the school scrap pile. BROMFIELD HITS CONGRESS ACTS

Says Attitude Prevails That Its Behavior 'Weakening Democracy Itself.'

(By Associated Press)

Louis Bromfield, Mansfield author-farmer, appearing with three congressmen on a radio discussion program, asserted in Columbus last night "there is a widespread feeling that congress by its behavior is weakening the very institution of democracy itself."

Bromfield assailed congress for showing no "signs of activity" toward controlling inflation, establishing a centralized war manpower authority to "supplant the antiquated selective service system," or "dealing with the problem of lowering the draft age to 18 years."

As Congressmen John Vorys (R) of Columbus, George H. Bender (R) of Cleveland, and Albert Gore (D) of Tennessee listened, Bromfield declared on America's Town Meeting of the Air:

"One has only to look down on the floor of the house or the senate into the faces of the men seated there to discover that there are many, too many, men in those seats, who are ignor-

Organize 'Victory Corps' at Senior High Within 10 Days

A move to enroll every Senior high school pupil in some form of war training or work will be launched within the next week or 10 days under the national "Victory corps" plan, Supt. of Schools W. L. Miller said today.

The superintendent said he turned the plans received from Washington over to Principal Glenn Rohleder of Senior high school late yesterday with instructions to set up the program in the school.

Rohleder said today he was studying the program with a view to placing it in operation in the high school "just as soon as possible."

His statement came only a day after he predicted that it wouldn't be "advisable to get too excited" about the "Victory corps" plan because it was "like a lot of other things that come out of Washington."

The program, as outlined today by Supt. Miller, calls for organization of pupils under eight classifications, each directly concerned with the nation's war program.

ON AIR MONDAY

Roosevelt to Address Nation Via Radio at 10 P. M.

WASHINGTON —(U.P.)— President Roosevelt announced today that he will make his radio "fireside chat" Monday night at 10 p. m. (EWT).

The president told a press conference he had not yet decided definitely on the primary subject of his 30-minute speech. But judging from his past remarks it apparently will be devoted primarily to domestic affairs rather than the international situation.

The new wage and price stabilization program and the manpower situation are topics on which the president is expected to speak. House Speaker Sam Rayburn said Mr. Roosevelt also would take opportunity to urge everyone to vote in the congressional elections next month.

USE WOODEN BOMBERS

MOSCOW —(AP)— Russian fliers are using a low-speed light bomber made of wood and fabric for accurate night attacks upon Axis positions around Stalingrad, the army newspaper Red Star said today.

TELLS OF VAST RUBBER SOURCE

Army Officer Says Brazil Can Give Us 1,500,000 Tons a Year at $1 a Pound.

(By United Press)

WASHINGTON — A senate committee today turned over to the war department the claim of an army major that the United States might be able to procure as much as 3,000,000,000 pounds—1,500,000 tons—of crude rubber annually from Brazil alone if it would renegotiate its present contracts for obtaining that material in Latin America.

The claim was made by Major Wendell Dove, of the army medical corps, at a closed session of the senate agriculture subcommittee, headed by Sen. Guy M. Gillette, D., Iowa, which is investigating synthetic rubber production.

Dove, who returned to this country last June after 15 years in various Latin American republics, told the group that present contracts provide for the purchase of Latin American rubber at a price of 42 cents a pound, and require the purchase of a "certain number of pounds of Brazil nuts" for every ton of rubber.

Germans Silent On Big Battle At Stalingrad

Russians Report They Have Broken Into Enemy Trenches to Northwest of City; Nazis Reported Trying New Attack Farther South.

(By Associated Press)

Soviet headquarters reported today that Russian troops had broken into German trenches northwest of Stalingrad and beat off four night attacks inside the Volga metropolis, while the Nazis captured two streets of an industrial suburb at a sacrifice of 2,000 dead.

For the first time since the siege began, Adolf Hitler's field headquarters omitted any mention of the gigantic battle for Stalingrad.

Soviet reports said German invasion columns sweeping south of Stalingrad had advanced into the U. S. S. R. autonomous area of Kalmyck, which lies along the lower Volga to the Caspian sea.

(The Germans long ago claimed they had captured Elista, a major city of the Kalmyck area, about 180 miles west of the big Caspian sea port of Astrakhan.)

It was not immediately clear whether this meant that the Nazis, disheartened by the slaughter and lack of success at Stalingrad, were now turning south.

Latest reports said the fighting at Stalingrad still was intense.

Dispatches said the violence of the 46-day-old German assault was rising, despite a Nazi broadcast last night indicating Axis shock troops would be withdrawn and the city would be pounded into surrender by heavy siege guns and dive bombers.

"The fight for Stalingrad has changed," the broadcast said, quoting German military quarters.

Several versions of the Berlin broadcast were heard by Allied listen-posts, all hinting that the battered siege armies would be withdrawn to a safe distance.

"The strategic objective at Stalingrad already has been achieved," one version declared.

"It is no longer necessary to send German infantry and assault engineers into the battle. . . . The finishing touches will now be entrusted to heavy artillery and Stukas."

Soviet accounts declared, however, the Germans were intensifying their frantic efforts to blast through Stalingrad's defenses to the Volga.

Red Star, the Russian army newspaper, said masses of German infantry led by 50 tanks finally achieved a break-through in a workers' settlement—apparently in a northeast suburb along the Volga—and occupied two streets.

"During this engagement, our troops burned or disabled 16 tanks and wiped out about four battalions (2,000 or more) of the enemy infantry," a Soviet communique reported.

On the salient northwest of Stalingrad, where Marshal Semeon Timoshenko's relief offensive has been striking along a 40-mile front between the Volga and the Don rivers, the Russians announced a fresh penetration of Nazi fortifications.

On the other side of the European war front, word came from

SURPRISE: Army, Navy Join To Smash at Japs In Pacific

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON—Persistently belting Japanese invaders throughout the vast Pacific war zone, the Allied offensive left surprised enemy forces in the Solomon islands today with eight less aircraft and five damaged ships, including a heavy cruiser.

The latest of the recently initiated attacks which have forced the Japanese back virtually to their starting point in New Guinea and apparently driven them out of two of the three western Aleutian islands they once occupied, struck at the heart of the Nipponese invasion base in the north Solomons.

Catching the Japanese unawares in bad weather, an American aircraft carrier force shattered the enemy's ships and planes in the Shortland island area on Monday, the navy disclosed last night.

Simultaneously, long range bombers under General Douglas MacArthur's Australian command forestalled an aerial counter-attack by splashing the enemy's airbases in nearby islands with bombs.

Without the loss of a man or a plane, the navy's aircraft damaged a heavy cruiser and a transport with heavy bombs and two cargo ships and a seaplane tender with lighter bombs. Two enemy seaplanes and two bombers were shot down and four 4-engined flying boats were destroyed in the harbor. In addition, low-flying craft poured bullets into another cruiser and destroyer.

Concentrations of enemy ships were sighted in the Shortland island area and it was considered likely they had helped supply and reinforce the Japanese detachments on American controlled Guadalcanal island, 250 miles distant.

Meanwhile, on the basis of the navy's last report on the Guadalcanal operations, naval and military circles still expected the Japanese would attempt again to recapture the air base taken by the marines more than two months ago.

In New Guinea, Australian ground forces worked their way forward without opposition to the Owen Stanley mountain passage, doorway from Japanese bases to the north shore of the

This Is YOUR War--Help Win It! (Editorial)

MANSFIELD has shown in the past, and it will show again, its capabilities for large accomplishments when its citizens unite in support of any proposed action that arouses interest to the point of enthusiasm.

There has been adverse criticism, in recent weeks and months, of apparent lack of vigor in engaging in various phases of local participation in the national war program, and failure of some individuals to recognize and accept personal responsibilities.

When a nation that was keyed to a program of peace was abruptly plunged into war, as was the case with the United States last December 7, it is not unnatural that a considerable percentage of the population has had difficulty in adjusting their thinking to the actualities of war, and in realizing the great changes that this war will make for everyone.

No person, family nor community can be fairly censured for failure to arrive quickly at full understanding of the vastness of the struggle now going on all over the world, or of the stupendous task that lies ahead of the United States in battling for preservation of the freedom of its own people.

But this realization must come—and the quicker it comes to everybody in this country the better it will be and the more likely it will become that the war will not drag along year after year, with possibility of today's young children being called upon to defend "rights" which they do not yet appreciate or which they take for granted.

Considered separately, in their day-to-day appearance, it may sometimes seem that a newspaper's recital of current happenings reflects a too critical attitude, yet a fair analysis over a period of weeks and months will disclose a consistent policy of faithful effort to truthfully reflect this community to News-Journal readers, to commend when commendation is merited and to frankly criticize conditions and actions in instances deemed justifiable, in the hope that better public understanding may bring improvement.

Few, if any, would argue that Mansfielders have as yet put forth anything near the effort they would willingly expend if the actuality of war came close to this city—yet freedom from devastation similar to that already wrought in Britain, the occupied countries of Europe, Russia, and the Far East, cannot be assured until victory has been achieved by the United Nations, of which the United States and every citizen therein is a part.

CRITICISM, either printed or spoken, should be soundly based on facts, and it is regrettable that unverified rumors have formed a considerable part of oral criticism from time to time in this and other communities.

Nor should factual reporting of conditions or occurrences of public interest be construed as adverse criticism, purpose of such publication being to acquaint readers with facts, pleasant or unpleasant, so that they may be fully informed.

Matters of public concern just now include operations of the civilian defense organization, the draft boards, the rationing board, the blood donor committee, the scrap metal campaign, war bond sales, war chest campaign, and a dozen or more other community or group activities associated with the war program.

Each of these engages the attention and active interest of many people and it is an obligation of the News-Journal to give fullest possible information about all of them; with expression of editorial opinion when deemed advisable.

There is also the subject of public affairs, as handled by elected or appointed employes of city and county, which is a part of the information readers of a newspaper rightly expect, and dereliction in this duty, as has occurred in some cities, has almost uniformly resulted in conditions of civic corruption and official malfeasance or misfeasance which no informed public would tolerate.

Further awakening of people of this community to the fact that peace-time laxity in law enforcement cannot be practiced while the war is in progress without seriously hindering financial and physical support of the war effort, may result in causing a changed administrative attitude here, as has already come about in many other cities.

REPORTED lack of interest among Senior high school students in the scrap collection drive can be interpreted only as meaning that any young people of high school age who take such an attitude have not had the urgency of this need fully and forcefully explained by school officials. Any activity of this kind MUST have leadership and direction, and it is gratifying to learn that boys of the "M" association of Senior high school are volunteering for the task. IT SHOULD BE IMPRESSED UPON EVERY SCHOOL BOY AND GIRL THAT IT IS FOR THEM THIS WAR IS BEING FOUGHT, and that none is "too big," or too old, or too busy to do whatever is asked of them in helping to win it.

Adults and children alike have work to do in winning the war—and this is not a safe time for anyone to shirk. All should pull together, with determination that nothing of minor importance will be permitted to interfere with the primary objective of winning the war.

B. AND P. W. CLUB TO HAVE BANQUET

Program for National Business Women's Week Announced; Church Services, Broadcasts and Dinners Arranged.

NATIONAL BUSINESS WOMEN'S WEEK, Oct. 11 to 17, will be celebrated by the Mansfield Business and Professional Women's club with a "Public Affairs" banquet on Oct. 14 at the Mansfield-Leland hotel. Dress will be optional and the guest speaker will be A. Crombie, whose subject will be "A Woman's Place In a Wartime Social Health Program."

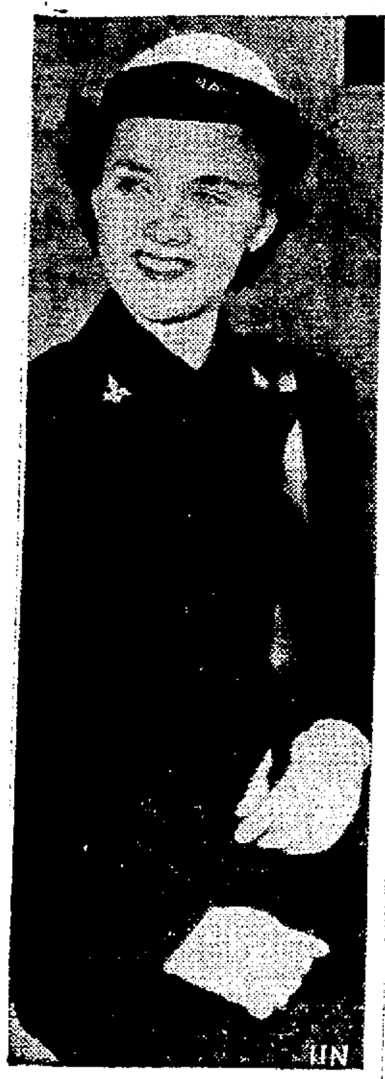
Della Buckley, chairman of the program committee, will be assisted by Dora McLeod, Martha McFarland, Esther Snyder and Jeanette Hoffman. Serving on the hospitality committee for the occasion are Margaret Casperson, chairman, Lillian Davis, Lena Colgan, Frances Schultz and Marie Kalbfleisch.

Other events which will mark the national observance of Business Women's week, include the coast-to-coast broadcast over the Columbia Broadcasting System from 10:15 to 10:30 p. m. Saturday of the "Women's Contribution to the War Effort." At 10:45 a. m. Sunday, the Mansfield members will attend services at the First Presbyterian church. The Mutual Broadcasting System will have a special program at 10 p. m. Sunday.

In Cleveland, there will be a luncheon in the Empire room of the Hotel Cleveland Sunday noon. Program theme will be "Women's Work In the War." The Ashland club will have a dinner at 6:30 p. m. Monday at the First Christian church in that city. "Battle of the Axis" has been chosen as the topic for the evening.

Another program by and for the Mansfield club members will be given at 7:30 p. m. Tuesday by the B. and P. W. glee club. This year's officers are Dorothy Landers, president; Catherine Riggs, first vice president; Mildred Perry, second vice president; Marjorie High, treasurer; Urith Funston, recording secretary, and Virginia Dye, corresponding secretary.

For the WAVES



Here is the complete uniform which will be issued to the enlisted personnel of the WAVES, the women's reserve of the U. S. Naval Reserve. Rating marks on the upper sleeves will take the place of gold braid and the buttons will be black instead of gold. The skirt is the same. The hat has a six-section crown with wide, stitched brim. A white crown is for summer wear and a blue one for winter.

Class Meets At Marmet Home

There were 18 members and one guest, Mrs. Stenna Mansfield, of Detroit, present at the meeting of the Loyal Daughters class of St. John's Evangelical and Reformed church. The meeting was held at the home of Mrs. Bertha Marmet on Wayne street, and was opened with devotions led by Miss Clara Yeager.

Following the business meeting contests were enjoyed and prizes won by Mrs. Rose Crider, Miss Yeager, and Mrs. Ada Leppert. Later in the evening lunch was served. The next meeting will take place at the home of Mrs. Tillie Meeting, Altamont avenue, Nov. 12.

One Win One Class Meets

The One Win One Sunday school class of the First United Presbyterian church held its October meeting Wednesday evening in the church parlors. It was a covered dish dinner for members and their families and there were 45 in attendance. Tables were attractively decorated with autumn flowers and lighted tapers.

Following the dinner devotions were conducted by Dr. White. The routine business meeting was in charge of Leonard Ebbert, the class president. Those in charge of the meeting were Miss Chattie Sullivan, Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Senert, Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Althouse, and Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Ebbert.

Dinner Honors Assistant Pastor

Mr. and Mrs. John VanCura, 860 Lexington avenue, entertained with a 6 o'clock chicken dinner in honor of Rev. and Mrs. Milton Johnson, who are leaving Mansfield soon. Rev. Johnson is the assistant pastor of the First English Lutheran church and has received a call to Wisconsin.

Other guests were Mrs. W. C. B. Harris and Mrs. Marie Lomax, and all joined in wishing the Johnsons the best of luck. Fall flowers were used on the table and throughout the house.

BUSY BEE CLASS.

Hostess to the Busy Bee club last evening was Mrs. Mae Dicsom. Prizes in bunco were awarded to Mrs. Nellie Antes, Mrs. Clyde Charles and Mrs. Charles Wingert. Miss Patritia Dropsey was a guest. Luncheon was served. Mrs. Chester Secrist will entertain at her home on Bennett street on Oct. 22.

New Members Welcomed by Mothers' Club

Nine new members were welcomed at yesterday's meeting of the West Fifth School Mothers' club. Thirty-five mothers were present and the attendance prize was awarded to Mrs. Elizabeth Hoffman's room. Mrs. William Leach was recipient of the door prize.

For the program, Miss Leona Snyder's sight-seeing class presented a play entitled, "Our Democracy." The refreshment committee was comprised of Mrs. J. Sziraki, Mrs. A. Workman, Mrs. H. Blaynel and Mrs. K. Yeager. Date of the school's Halloween festival was announced as Oct. 16.

The new members are Mrs. G. Durry, Mrs. F. H. Egear, Mrs. Charles Glasgow, Mrs. P. H. Griffith, Mrs. Russell Johns, Mrs. Leach, Mrs. Francis Miller, Mrs. M. McCaskey and Mrs. G. Nelson. The next regular meeting will be held on Nov. 12.

Park Auxiliary Meets In Pavilion

The Liberty Park Auxiliary met on Wednesday night at the park pavilion. Mrs. Lena Aston was a guest. The business meeting was conducted and the auxiliary announced the purchase of a $100 war bond. Mrs. Laura Stevens was appointed defense representative. The meeting was then turned over to Mrs. Agnes Smith and cards were played. Prizes went to Lena Mergel and Mrs. Katherine Shibinski.

Plans were made for a covered-dish dinner for members and their husbands, the date to be announced later. On the serving committee for the next meeting will be, Mrs. Elizabeth Rice, Mrs. Shibinski, Mrs. Edna Stauffer and Mrs. John Stranski.

Program Enjoyed By Club Members

A program of music and readings was enjoyed by members of the Golden Link club when they met Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Edward Wendland, 221 South Mulberry street. A business meeting was conducted and following the program five hundred and rummy were played.

At the close of the meeting a two-course luncheon was served at small tables. Crimson roses were used as decorations. Mrs. William Bender will be the next hostess for the Nov. 4 meeting, with the place to be announced later.

DINNER PLANNED.

Sarah Pfeiffer Auxiliary met at the court house Wednesday evening with Mrs. Elsie Trisler in charge. On Oct. 21, the members will have a covered-dish supper at Mrs. Katherine Sattler's Mifflin lake cottage at 6:30 p. m.

How To Do Your Own Hair

ROLL YOUR OWN. A Fifth avenue hair stylist is teaching self-service hairdos.

By BETTY CLARK

(Wide World Beauty Editor)

When your hair dresser teaches you how to do your own hair, that's news.

It's happening in New York, where the trend of the times has impelled a top-flight hair stylist, Lura de Gez, to give her clients lessons in homemade coiffures. It may mean less business for the hairdresser, says Lura, but after all, this is wartime, and girls who work long hours at new jobs often don't have time to get professionally beautified.

So the self-service hairdo course is born. It teaches the busy girls how to brush, shampoo and restyle their hair, even to the mysterious business of producing a finger wave with the aid of water and bobby pins.

The first thing stressed is thorough brushing with the head down to stimulate circulation in the scalp. This should be done before and after the home shampoo.

There's a trick to giving yourself a professional-looking finger wave. Girls are taught to wind the curls from the end of the hair and not from the scalp, fasten them neatly with one bobby pin, with the end of the hair tucked underneath. The curls should be pinned in even rows around the head, with no loose ends waving in the breeze.

After the last pin is in place, the hair is covered with a large triangle net, tied securely around the head with a knot in front. You may then go to bed in comfort, and wake up with hair dry and neatly curled the next morning.

Bible Class Meets With Mrs. Craig

The Findley-Anderson Bible class of the United Presbyterian church held its regular meeting Wednesday evening at the home of Mrs. D. E. Craig, 264 Bowman street. Nineteen members were present. Miss Anna Rauch and Mrs. Bertha Newcomer were the assistant hostesses.

The president, Mrs. George Riel, presided over the business meeting and the devotions were in charge of Miss Rauch. Members worked on lunch cloths and later in the evening refreshments were served. The next meeting will be held on Nov. 4 at th home of Mrs. J. C. Boyd, 226 Poplar street, with Mrs. Stanley Houl, Mrs. Eva Rush, and Mrs. Helen Melanson assisting.

CLUB ORGANIZED.

The Thursday Night club was organized last evening at a dinner party held at the Colonial Guest House. Ten were present to elect Mrs. J. D. Stricker president and secretary. Prize in bridge was won by Mrs. Louis Meyors. Mrs. C. F. Shreffler, Bowman street road, will be hostess for the November meeting.

AT COUNTRY DAY SCHOOL.

First meeting of the Parent-Teacher association of Country Day school will be held at the school Monday, Oct. 12, at 1:30 p. m. Speaker will be Miss Lenore Van Gundia, executive secretary of the Richland county chapter of the Red Cross, who will discuss "The Functions of the Various Departments of the Red Cross." Mrs. G. J. Searle is president of the school P. T. A.

Party Given for Jeanne McGown

Miss Jeanne McGown of Shelby, bride-elect of Pvt. Robert M. Black of Bellevue, was honored with a linen shower given Tuesday evening by Miss Rosemary Kerliby and Mrs. George Conklin at the latter's home, 131 Sturges avenue. The wedding will take place on Oct. 24 at the First Christian church in Shelby. Mr. Black is stationed at Camp Perry.

A patriotic color scheme was used when the dessert-luncheon was served. Three tables of bridge were in play during the evening with prizes going to Mrs. Clifton Smith of Mansfield and Mrs. Milford Cox of Shelby.

Sorosis Meets With Mrs. Lash

The Beta chapter of the Mansfield Sorosis met with Mrs. Alden Lash, 238 Rowland avenue, Wednesday evening. Mrs. Walter Mickey, the new president, was in charge of the meeting. The slogan "To Buy a War Stamp Every Meeting" was adopted. Mrs. Lash reviewed the year's program, and a most interesting paper "Eyes to South America," was presented by Mrs. Eugene Linham. She told of the products and industries of the various South American countries, their peoples and customs, and of the very inadequate defense of the continent. The next meeting will be held at the home of Miss Esther Snyder, 65 Bartley avenue, on Oct. 21.

Two Halloween Parties Planned For Youngsters

Plans were made to give two Halloween parties for the school children when the Woodville Mothers' club had its monthly meeting at the school on Wednesday. One party will be for youngsters in the first through the fourth grades, the other will be for fifth through eighth graders. Prizes and refreshments will be furnished by the Mothers' club.

Committees appointed to have charge of arrangements are as follows: (1) Mrs. H. C. Olinger, chairman; Mrs. Frank Vild, Mrs. J. F. Auer, Mrs. L. B. Hamilton, Mrs. Preston Williams, and Mrs. Lester Wendland; (2) Mrs. L. H. Hawkins, chairman; Mrs. Lawrence Hughes, Mrs. John Constance, Mrs. John Mastrick, Mrs. Carl Dupre, and Mrs. R. D. McCullough.

R. D. McCullough.

Guest speaker at the meeting was Mrs. A. C. Tuttle, whose interesting and educational subject was "Nutrition." Glenn Wendland and John Schneider entertained with several piano selections. Refreshments were served by Mrs. L. E. Bricker and her committee. The next meeting will be held Nov. 4.

Mother's Club Holds Meeting At the School

The Prospect Mother's club met at the school on Thursday afternoon, Oct. 8, with the following officers as hostesses: Mrs. Pankow, president; Mrs. Gorsuch, vice president; Mrs. Daugherty, secretary; Mrs. Hugh Scott, assistant secretary; Mrs. Hildreth Johns, treasurer, and Mrs. Shriner, assistant treasurer. A covered dish dinner was enjoyed.

Miss Eleanor Bond, Girl Scout leader, gave a talk on the formation of new scout troops to include the younger girls of the second and third grades.

The club discussed and voted upon sewing for the Red Cross and it was decided to sew every Thursday except the club meeting day, this day to be reserved for special programs. The next meeting will take place at the school on Nov. 12 at 1:30 p. m. with Mrs. Karl Kunert serving as chairman.

Church Society Holds Meeting

Members of the Mary Markley society of the St. Paul Lutheran church were guests of Mrs. Glenn Stevenson, 334 Third avenue. Mrs. Russell Hauck presented the topic "Who Is My Neighbor," which was followed by a general discussion. Miss Katherine Miller presided over the business session. Plans were completed for a group to attend the Central conference Missionary convention banquet in Bucyrus, Oct. 20. Mrs. J. Woodrow Seitz and Mrs. John Merkle are the delegates.

The group brought gifts for Konnarock Training school in Virginia, which will be taken to Bucyrus. Guests were Mrs. Don Borchardt and Miss Barbara Lehman. Refreshments were served buffet style with Miss Lehman pouring. The November meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. John Merkle, 395 West Sixth street, on Nov. 12. Miss Bertene Sawyer will have the program.

Loyalty Day Luncheon Held

The Loyalty day luncheon was held at the Mansfield-Leland hotel Wednesday afternoon with Mrs. M. Lewis, Mrs. J. Kalish, Mrs. I. Arenson, Mrs. M. Browarsky, and Mrs. C. Gettinger as hostesses.

Mrs. Norman Kann gave an interesting talk on Loyalty day. Members enjoyed three selections by Edith Fletcher Jameson, who was accompanied on the piano by Mrs. George Hall. Rabbi Dorfman talked on that most popular play "The Moon Is Down." The next meeting will be a card party at the temple, Oct. 20.

WOMEN TELL OF WAR'S EFFECT ON CHILDREN

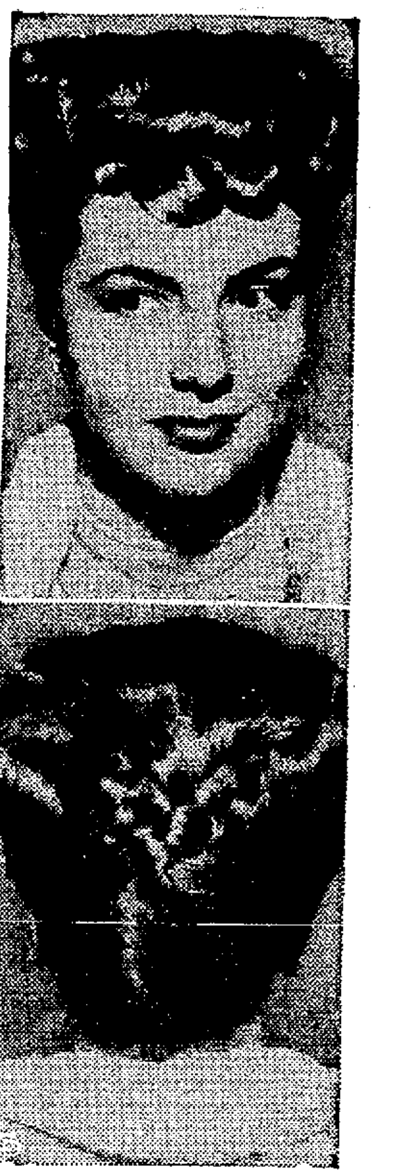
Child Conservation Club Has Talks by Mrs. Bair and Mrs. Holdridge; Plans to Hear Dr. Gary Myers Oct. 26.

MEMBERS of the Child Conservation club have been invited to hear Dr. Gary Cleveland Myers speak at John Simpson Junior high school on Oct. 26. The announcement was made at Thursday's meeting which was held at the home of Mrs. Ted Banks, 771 Overlook avenue. Mrs. Carl Brock, assistant hostess and chairman of the victory committee, was appointed to send gifts to the boys in service.

Roll call response by Mrs. Orville Kibler was 'Thou Shalt Not Lie." Dressed in her Nurses' Aid uniform, Miss Bertine Sawyer stressed the need for more volunteers to join the Nurses' Aids classes. Speakers for the evening's program were Mrs. Robert Bair and Mrs. Ward Holdridge. They pointed out in their talks the different ways in which the war has affected the lives of growing children and how mothers are endeavoring to solve these problems for the betterment of the children.

On Oct. 22, the club will meet at the home of Mrs. James Martin, 244 Elmwood drive, with Mrs. C. J. Kalbfleisch as associate hostess. A Halloween party has been planned for the children and will be held on Oct. 31.

Victory Hair-Do



Actress Joan Leslie models a victory coiffure featuring a V-back. The sides are brushed into a swirl with ends curled forward above a clean hairline.

MEET IN ASHLAND.

Sans Pareil club members were entertained Thursday by Mrs. Arthur Samsell at her home in Ashland. Nine were in attendance. A poke lunch was enjoyed and the women did Red Cross sewing. On Nov. 12 there will be an all-day meeting at the home of Mrs. Jack Rider in Ashland.

50th Anniversary Celebrated at The Straub Home

On Tuesday, Oct. 6, Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Straub, 119 Lexington avenue, celebrated their golden wedding anniversary. Together with their children they attended Mass at St. Peter's Catholic church in the morning and received the nuptial blessing. At noon lunch was served at their home to 25 guests. The table was attractive with a center piece of gold mums.

A six o'clock dinner was enjoyed, to which 35 relatives and friends were invited. The table was centered with a tiered wedding cake. Four of the guests present at the dinner, were at the wedding dinner fifty years ago. These were Peter Straub, Andrew Laser, Mrs. Mayme Ulm and Mrs. Harry Au of Berea.

A reception was held in the afternoon and evening and about 200 guests called to offer their congratulations. The home was attractive with many floral arrangements and gifts. Guests were there from Martins Ferry, Berea and Lucas.

Niles Shoots for Third Straight Wins Against Tygers

"Stick around until 1958, Al," says Bill Wilkins to Madison high school grid Coach Al Fendrick, "and I will have a star end for you."

That's the way the star end of Madison's mighty Rams of 1938 announced the birth of a son one day this week.

But Bill, who is now playing for Akron university, didn't celebrate the event to such an extent that he got out of training. Instead he donned a set of Madison togs and got in there for a practice session with the Rams.

Bill took his old end position on offense, and the Rams helped him celebrate his son's arrival by tossing him a pass on the play that has become known on "Ram Hill" as the "Wilkins' Special."

The "Special" is a play Bill cooked up during a spring game several years ago between the graduating and next year's teams.

Wilkins also played a bit of defensive end in the practice session this week, and informed one and all, "These boys do hit," as he pulled out from under a Willie Wynn block.

My extra special operative, Whizzer White, seems to have gotten all the dope on the Wilkins blessed event. He reports mother and son "are doing good."

Howard Bosh, secretary of the Transportation bowling league, appears to be very happy these days, and if some secretaries of some other leagues will take a tip from him, they can be happy too.

Bosh, in a letter to this department, recalls a conversation we had at the Transportation banquet last spring, in which we agreed that if more information were given this department, particularly the league standings, that our stories about the league would be much more interesting to the bowlers.

Bosh has been furnishing the league standings this season, and in his letter he says:

"The write-up on our matches this season have been the best to my knowledge that we have ever received. I have had several mention the fact to me and I know that it is appreciated by all."

Thank you Howard and letters like that are appreciated here.

It only shows again that satisfactory stories can only be written from complete information. Illegible, incomplete, and inaccurate scores turned in to this department cannot blossom into world-beating yarns.

BOWMAN ROMPS

Bowman school romped over West Fifth 33-0 in a grade school touch football league game last evening scoring 13 points in each of the first two periods and seven in the fourth. Carver scored two touchdowns and tossed passes to Beal and Reynolds for three more, scored one extra point on a place kick and passed to Chamberlain for two more.

Brown Stocks Up on Gum

Changes Chews to Change Gridiron Luck.

By FRITZ HOWELL

COLUMBUS—(AP)—There may be an iota of truth in the report war conditions are to blame for the chewing gum shortage—but the more logical explanation is that it was caused by Paul E. Brown, coach of Ohio State university's Bucks.

* * *

Brown insists he isn't superstitious—that black cats, walking under ladders and No. 13 mean nothing to him. He also declares it isn't superstition that makes him the nation's No. 1 chewing gum consumer while his boys are out there battling.

The Buck pigskin tutor, as the opening whistle blows, "peels" a stick of gum and starts chewing. If fortune favors the Ohios, he sticks with that stick. But, at the least turn of the tide, out goes that one and he starts on another. If the opposition starts a sustained drive, or his team needs a break of some kind, he changes gum again.

"No, I'm not superstitious," he says, 'but you'd be surprised how often our luck changes for the better when I change 'chews.'

He was well into the fifth package last Saturday when the final shot halted the Indiana game, and he declared today he was hoarding an even larger supply for Saturday's contest with Southern California.

"Those Trojans are boasting they have the fastest backfield in the country," Brown said. "I'll probably need a good supply of gum to stop 'em."

Brown declared the Indiana scrap, won by Ohio 32-21, "was a much tougher game than it appeared from up in the stands." He said the Bucks had been sluggish in practice all week until yesterday afternoon's final workout as a result of bumps and bruises suffered against the Hoosiers.

Only one lineup change is in prospect for the Bucks against the Trojans, Dante Lavelli taking over the end berth filled the last two weeks by Don Steinberg who was hurt last Saturday and will see little if any action this week.

Brown said he was much impressed by the Southern Cal array of talent and that he looked for the toughest kind of a game Saturday.

A crowd of about 60,000 is expected to witness the fray.

LEITENBERGER ROLLS HIGH EMPIRE SCORE

Leitenberger rolled a 485 total for high score in the Empire Sheet Bowling league at Colony alleys, while Hamaker had high game of 215. Hattman had an even 200 game.

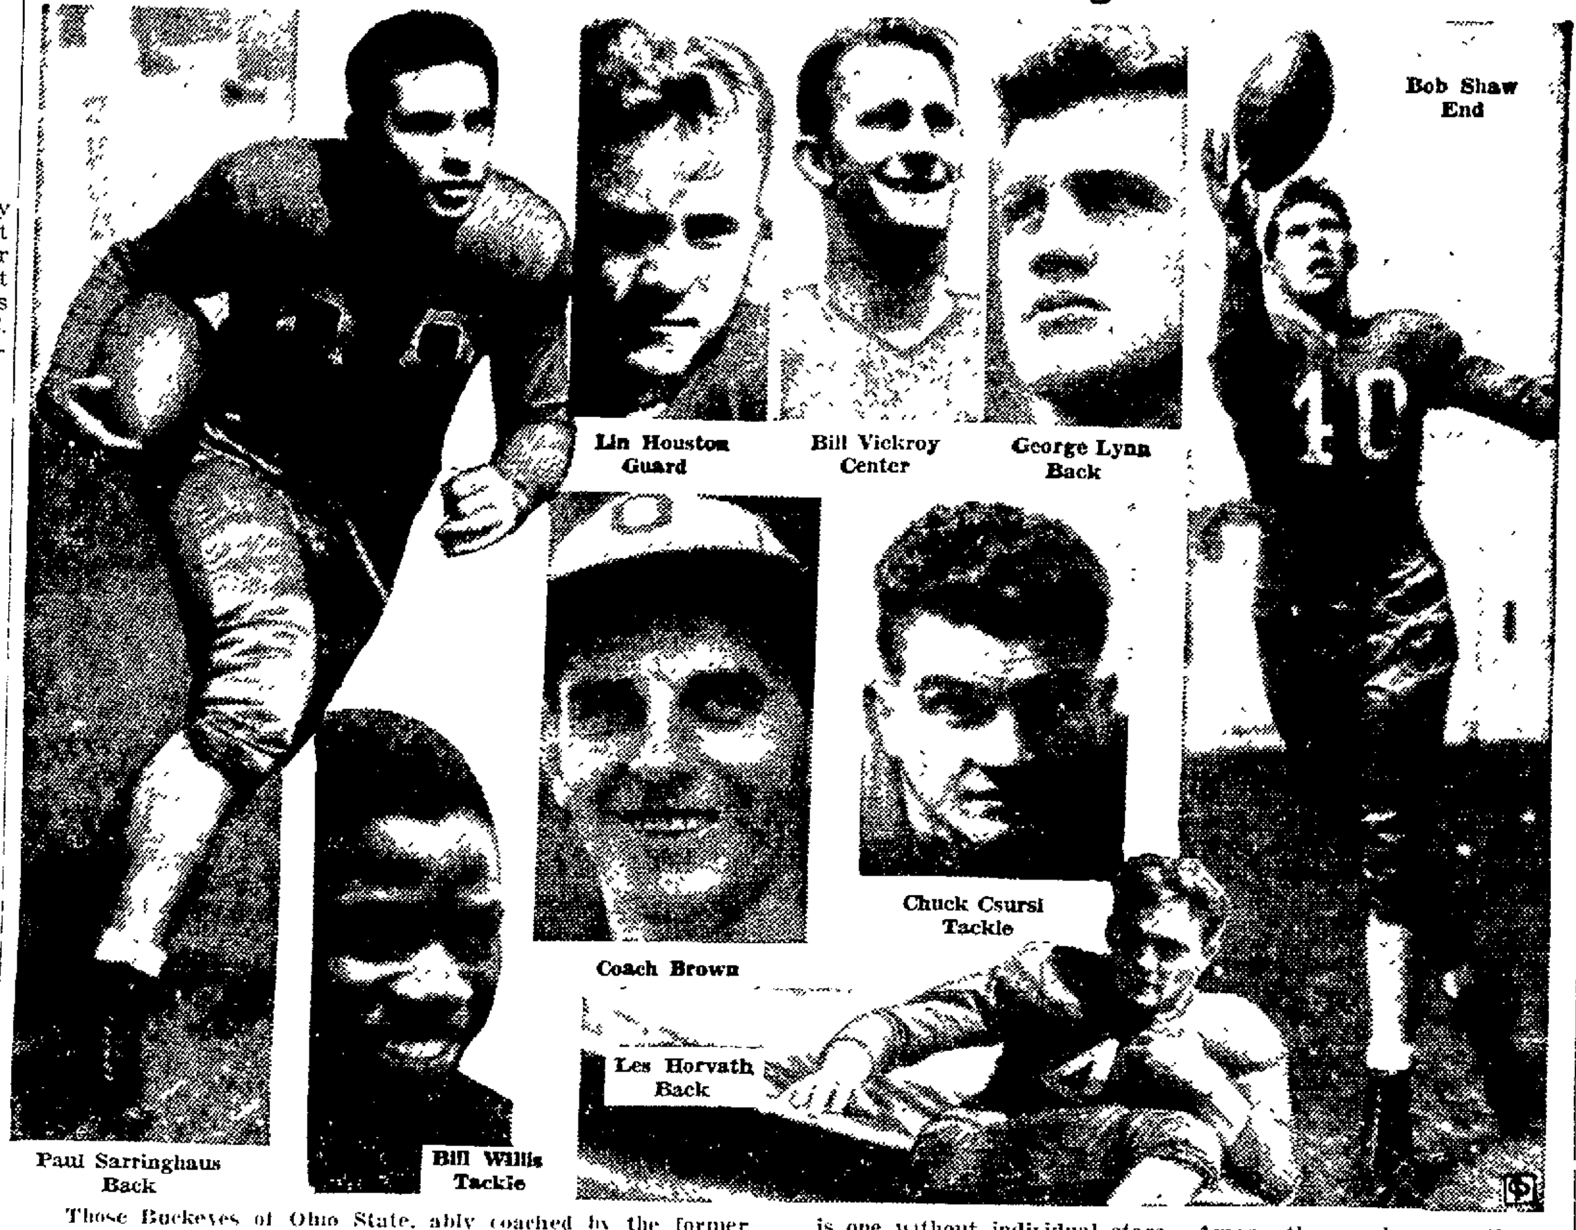
Buckeyes Again Loom as Contenders for Big Ten Honors



Those Buckeyes of Ohio State, ably coached by the former high school whiz, Paul Brown, again appear to have the makings for a very successful season. At this stage it appears the Bucks will be a contender for Western conference honors and may have something to say about the national title. Brown's team is one without individual stars. Among the regulars are those pictured above. Best-looking sophomore back is Gene Fekete, who scored three touchdowns against Indiana. Best first-year man on the line is Bill Willis, giant Negro tackle, whose play has been outstanding.

SPORTS ROUNDUP

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

NEW YORK—(Wide World)—There hasn't been any great drop in attendance at Belmont park since the trains stopped running, and off-the-trail Rockingham has decided business is good enough they won't have to cut purses after all. . . . Apparently it takes more than lack of transportation to discourage a guy who thinks he can beat the races . . . Although it was the first time in years that Ford Frick National league prexy, had a chance to help celebrate a world series victory, he didn't join in the fun after the Cards won. He was home, sick in bed.

TODAY'S GUEST STARS.

John P. Carmichael, Chicago Daily News: "The Cardinals went out of New York on a plain, ordinary railroad train, a fact that New York probably wouldn't believe. Nobody would have been surprised if they'd gone via magic carpet or disappeared from Yankee stadium in a cloud of smoke."

* *

George Treadwell, a Memphis golfer, has come up with the stunt of making an even-par score for nine holes without parring a single hole. . . . He turned in three birdies, one eagle and five bogies. . . . Just to make it more confusing, George shot seven pars and two bogies on the second nine.

Stroup Sets Pace In Westie B-Loop

Simpson Wins Over Ashland

Bulldogs Battle Back After Half-Time Tie.

Bouncing back from a 7-7 deadlock at half-time, John Simpson junior high gridders ran wild over Ashland yesterday at Stadium field in the second half to mark up a 25-7 victory in their opening game.

* * *

Starting the season with a brand new team, Simpson showed a set of fast backs and a line that shows promise, but gave evidence of needing a lot of contact work before it equals the championship team of last fall.

Those fast backs rambled in the first quarter as Otto Schmidt and Ollie Cline reeled off long gains in a 65-yard touchdown drive which ended with Cline smashing over for the touchdown. Schmidt recovered a fumble over the goal line for extra point.

Ashland scored in the second period on the most sensational play of the game as Warner started off tackle and cut back for a 90-yard touchdown run. Warner bucked for the extra point.

Both teams lost touchdowns in the first half through penalties, Simpson being set back after making a first down inside the 10-yard line, and Ashland losing a 45-yard pass gain to the five-yard marker when the play started offside.

Simpson recovered an Ashland fumble on the visitors' 30-yard line in the third quarter and drove to the winning touchdown, with Schmidt plowing over from the one-yard mark.

* * *

The Bulldogs tallied twice in the fourth period, Cline getting away for a 25-yard touchdown run, and Thomas intercepting a pass and rambling 50 yards.

Mansfield Must Stop Star Halfback Zorn

Hetler Injured, May Be Replaced By Carl Schaefer In Lineup

THE RED DRAGONS of Niles high school invade Stadium field tonight bringing a team of young giants variously reported as averaging between 180 and 190 pounds.

The Dragons, encouraged by two straight wins over Canton Timken 15-6 and Youngstown Ursuline 14-7, will be shooting for their third consecutive victory, but they have been warned by their scouts not to take Mansfield lightly in spite of the Tyger defeats at the hands of Elyria and Sandusky.

Niles paper of yesterday said the Dragons would concentrate on a defense for young Roland Schmidt who impressed scouts as a triple-threat man.

Coach Hoker warned the Dragons they must be prepared to play a full football game. "Thus far this season the team hasn't been clicking for 48 minutes a game, and it will take this to win against Mansfield," the Niles mentor declared.

Mansfield faced tonight's game with the possibility of a substitution at guard, where Carl Shaffer may have to replace Gene Hetler who is hobbling about on a bum leg.

Coach Snyder has been drilling the Tygers in pass defense this week, and also in a defense for Zorn, 185-pound Dragon halfback, who has scored all but six of the Niles points this season, and who is described by Scout Harry McHock as "the best back Mansfield has faced."

"I really believe that if we can stop Zorn, we have a chance to win this game," Snyder declared today.

In order to strengthen the Tyger pass defense, big Bill Lewis will be brought back from end into the backfield tonight on defense to add some height to the secondary.

Probable starting lineups tonight:

Ohio Colleges Play Full Sked

Five Games For Today Booked Under Lights.

COLUMBUS—(AP)—Six night games, five Ohio conference frays, a dozen contests with out-of-state squads—that's the menu being dished up this week-end for Ohio college football fans.

The headliner, of course, is Saturday's struggle between Ohio State's flashy Bucks and the Trojans of Southern California, expected to attract 60,000 fans.

All of Friday's schedule is under the lights. Findlay invades New Concord for an Ohio conference game with Muskingum. Wilberforce and Tuskegee meet in Chicago, Ohio Wesleyan and Baldwin Wallace at Berea, Western Reserve and Syracuse university in Syracuse, and Western Kentucky State Teachers visiting Youngstown college.

The "Playing Colonels" of Centre, beaten 28 to 6 two weeks ago by Miami, battle the tough University of Cincinnati team Saturday night in the Queen city. Other Saturday frays are afternoon events.

LONDON'S BIG ATTRACTION FOR U. S. SOLDIERS

Doughboys on Leave Pass Up Many Beautiful Spots To Visit Old Capital.

(By International News Service)

LONDON—Dear, dirty old London is still the main attraction of the thousands of American soldiers when their all-too infrequent leave turn comes around.

It can't be the bright lights. There are none! By eight at night the town is in inky darkness; there's little transportation; the theaters are crowded, so are the movies; hotels are full, restaurants crammed, and there's just about enough to eat. Yet all the leave vouchers to soldiers are franked "London" on their leave passes.

There's the Norman beauty of Windsor Castle, the Tudor splendour of Hampton Court; the old English charm of the Cotswolds, the romantic beauty of Shakespeare's town of Stratford-on-Avon, but they are all passed up for the indefinable allure of the drab old capital.

A leisurely stroll along Regent Street, or down battered Bond Street, or along Piccadilly, with its ruins, its hotch potch of buildings, vast stores and grimy looking clubs seem to fill the wants of the majority of the American soldiers on leave.

The sight seeing urge is soon dealt with. A quick look over Westminster Abbey, still intact, a brief glance at the phoney gothic pile of the Houses of Parliament with Big Ben's tower challengingly peering skywards; St. Paul's, Wren's masterpiece with one or two war wounds but still upstanding an area of bombed desolation; a walk along Limehouse on the east side of the city, and then the inevitable gravitation to American concentrations around the west end and Charing Cross road to team up with the rest of the gregarious soldiery.

Over ten thousand passed through London recently and the American Red Cross which so efficiently tends to their eating, sleeping, amusements when on leave had their entire organization strained almost to cracking point.

All hostels were packed, emergency accommodation voluntarily provided by private citizens had to be utilized, extra food organized, and yet every jack man of them had somewhere comfortable to sleep and plenty to eat.

It was a great strain on the food controller, but they were prepared for it, so close is the cooperation between the army and the Red Cross with the local food authorities. To the Londoner it is not exactly an invasion; it's a welcome infiltration.

Books For Children

(Available at Mansfield Public Library)

A new collection of school stories of long ago and an unusual story of a summer vacation for older boys and girls are now available in the Mansfield Public Library's children's department.

THE SCHOOL BELL RINGS, by Evelyn Ray Sickels—Each of the chapters in this book is the story of an incident which took place long ago in a school or some substitute of learning. There are tales of mischief and pranks and tales of bravery and reward. It would be an especially adaptable book for reading aloud at school or at home.

TOUCHDOWN, by Adelaide Rowell—While having every appearance of being a sport story this is really only the story of Mike Grainger, a football hero, who was stricken with infantile paralysis at the peak of his career. The summer after his release from the hospital he sought the solitude of his summer home. Instead of solitude he found all the active children of Okaiyoke Court and especially the Middlebrooks who lived next door. The sports camp and the newspaper published by the members kept him too busy to mourn his handicap.

SHUT OFF WATER

Bowman Residents To Be Without It Two Hours Saturday.

Residents of Bowman street in the area between the bridge near Sixth street and the B. and O. and Erie railroads north to Harker street will be without their city water service for two hours beginning at 8 a. m. Saturday.

O. C. Kalbfleisch, waterworks superintendent, announced today that repairs to water mains in that district will be made during the two-hour period, necessitating shutting off the supply.

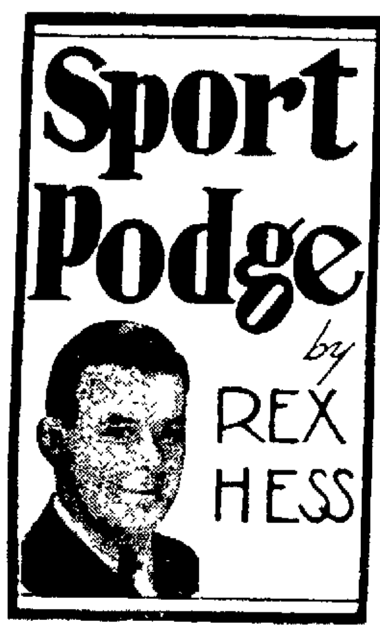
Niles Shoots for Third Straight Wins Against Tygers



Sport Podge

by REX HESS

"Stick around until 1958, Al," says Bill Wilkins to Madison high school grid Coach Al Fendrick, "and I will have a star end for you."

That's the way the star end of Madison's mighty Rams of 1938 announced the birth of a son one day this week.

But Bill, who is now playing for Akron university, didn't celebrate the event to such an extent that he got out of training. Instead he donned a set of Madison togs and got in there for a practice session with the Rams.

Bill took his old end position on offense, and the Rams helped him celebrate his son's arrival by tossing him a pass on the play that has become known on "Ram Hill" as the "Wilkins' Special."

The "Special" is a play Bill cooked up during a spring game several years ago between the graduating and next year's teams.

Wilkins also played a bit of defensive end in the practice session this week and informed one and all, "These boys do hit," as he pulled out from under a Willie Wynn block.

My extra special operative, Whizzer White, seems to have gotten all the dope on the Wilkins blessed event. He reports mother and son "are doing good."

Howard Bosh, secretary of the Transportation bowling league, appears to be very happy these days, and if some secretaries of some other leagues will take a tip from him, they can be happy too.

Bosh, in a letter to this department, recalls a conversation we had at the Transportation banquet last spring, in which we agreed that if more information were given this department, particularly the league standings, that our stories about the league would be much more interesting to the bowlers.

Bosh has been furnishing the league standings this season and in his letter he says.

"The write-up on our matches this season have been the best to my knowledge, that we have ever received. I have had several mention the fact to me and I know that it is appreciated by all."

Thank you Howard and letters like that are appreciated here.

It only shows again that satisfactory stories can only be written from complete information. Illegible, incomplete, and inaccurate scores turned in to this department cannot blossom into world-beating yarns.

BOWMAN ROMPS

Bowman school romped over West Fifth 33-0 in a grade school touch football league game last evening scoring 13 points in each of the first two periods and seven in the fourth. Carver scored two touchdowns and tossed passes to Beal and Reynolds for three more, scored one extra point on a place kick, and passed to Chamberlain for two more.

Brown Stocks Up on Gum

Changes Chews to Change Gridiron Luck.

By FRITZ HOWELL

COLUMBUS—(AP)—There may be an iota of truth in the report war conditions are to blame for the chewing gum shortage—but the more logical explanation is that it was caused by Paul E. Brown, coach of Ohio State university's Bucks.

* * *

Brown insists he isn't superstitious—that black cats, walking under ladders and No. 13 mean nothing to him. He also declares it isn't superstition that makes him the nation's No. 1 chewing gum consumer while his boys are out there battling.

The Buck pigskin tutor, as the opening whistle blows, "peels" a stick of gum and starts chewing. If fortune favors the Ohios, he sucks with that stick. But, at the least turn of the tide, out goes that one and he starts on another. If the opposition starts a sustained drive, or his team needs a break of some kind, he changes gum again.

"No, I'm not superstitious," he says, "but you'd be surprised how often our luck changes for the better when I change chews."

He was well into the fifth package last Saturday when the final shot halted the Indiana game, and he declared today he was hoarding an even larger supply for Saturday's contest with Southern California.

"Those Trojans are boasting they have the fastest backfield in the country," Brown said. "I'll probably need a good supply of gum to stop 'em."

Brown declared the Indiana scrap, won by Ohio 32-21 "was a much tougher game than it appeared from up in the stands." He said the Bucks had been sluggish in practice all week until yesterday afternoon's final workout, as a result of bumps and bruises suffered against the Hoosiers.

Only one lineup change is in prospect for the Bucks against the Trojans, Dante Lavelli taking over the end berth filled the last two weeks by Don Steinberg who was hurt last Saturday and will see little if any action this week.

Brown said he was much impressed by the Southern Cal array of talent and that he looked for the toughest kind of a game Saturday.

A crowd of about 60,000 is expected to witness the fray.

Buckeyes Again Loom as Contenders for Big Ten Honors

Those Buckeyes of Ohio State, ably coached by the former high school whiz, Paul Brown, again appear to have the makings for a very successful season. At this stage it appears the Bucks will be a contender for Western conference honors and may have something to say about the national title. Brown's team is one without individual stars. Among the regulars are those pictured above. Best-looking sophomore back is Gene Fekete, who scored three touchdowns against Indiana. Best first-year man on the line is Bill Willis, giant Negro tackle, whose play has been outstanding.

Printers Stay Undefeated

Three Teams Tie For Second in B-League.

Mansfield Printing continued undefeated in the Commercial "B" league last night at Colony alleys blanking Ringside Nite club, and stretching its league lead to two full games.

SPORTS ROUNDUP

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

NEW YORK—(Wide World)—There hasn't been any great drop in attendance at Belmont park since the trains stopped running, and off-the-trail Rockingham has decided business is good enough they won't have to cut purses after all. . . . Apparently it takes more than lack of transportation to discourage a guy who thinks he can beat the races. . . . Although it was the first time in years that Ford Frick, National league prexy, had a chance to help celebrate a world series victory, he didn't join in the fun after the Cards won. He was home, sick in bed.

TODAY'S GUEST STARS.

John P. Carmichael, Chicago Daily News: "The Cardinals went out of New York on a plain, ordinary railroad train, a fact that New York probably wouldn't believe. Nobody would have been surprised if they'd gone via magic carpet or disappeared from Yankee stadium in a cloud of smoke."

* *

George Treadwell, a Memphis golfer, has come up with the stunt of making an even-par score for nine holes without parring a single hole. . . . He turned in three birdies, one eagle and five bogies. . . . Just to make it more confusing, George shot seven pars and two bogies on the second nine.

M. Baker Rolls Series of 602

Turns in Season's High Score in League.

Margaret Baker banged out a 602 series last night at Colony alleys, top score this season for the Women's Commercial A bowling league, turning in games of 211-175-216.

Simpson Wins Over Ashland

Bulldogs Battle Back After Half-Time Tie.

Bouncing back from a 7-7 deadlock at half-time, John Simpson junior high gridders ran wild over Ashland yesterday at Stadium field in the second half to mark up a 25-7 victory in their opening game.

* * *

Starting the season with a brand new team, Simpson showed a set of fast backs and a line that shows promise, but gave evidence of needing a lot of contact work before it equals the championship team of last fall.

Those fast backs rambled in the first quarter as Otto Schmidt and Ollie Cline reeled off long gains in a 65-yard touchdown drive which ended with Cline smashing over for the touchdown. Schmidt recovered a fumble over the goal line for extra point.

Ashland scored in the second period on the most sensational play of the game as Warner started off tackle and cut back for a 90-yard touchdown run. Warner bucked for the extra point.

Both teams lost touchdowns in the first half through penalties, Simpson being set back after making a first down inside the 10-yard line, and Ashland losing a 45-yard pass gain to the five-yard marker when the play started offside.

Simpson recovered an Ashland fumble on the visitors' 30-yard line in the third quarter and drove to the winning touchdown, with Schmidt plowing over from the one-yard mark.

* * *

The Bulldogs tallied twice in the fourth period, Cline getting away for a 25-yard touchdown run, and Thomas intercepting a pass and rambling 50 yards.

Mansfield Must Stop Star Halfback Zorn

Hetler Injured, May Be Replaced By Carl Schaefer In Lineup

THE RED DRAGONS of Niles high school invade Stadium field tonight bringing a team of young giants variously reported as averaging between 180 and 190 pounds.

The Dragons, encouraged by two straight wins over Canton Timken 15-6 and Youngstown Ursuline 14-7, will be shooting for their third consecutive victory, but they have been warned by their scouts not to take Mansfield lightly in spite of the Tyger defeats at the hands of Elyria and Sandusky.

Niles paper of yesterday said the Dragons would concentrate on a defense for young Roland Schmidt who impressed scouts as a triple-threat man.

Coach Hoker warned the Dragons they must be prepared to play a full football game. "Thus far this season the team hasn't been clicking for 48 minutes a game, and it will take this to win against Mansfield," the Niles mentor declared.

Mansfield faced tonight's game with the possibility of a substitution at guard, where Carl Shafter may have to replace Gene Hetler who is hobbling about on a bum leg.

Coach Snyder has been drilling the Tygers in pass defense this week, and also in a defense for Zorn, 185-pound Dragon halfback, who has scored all but six of the Niles points this season, and who is described by Scout Harry Mehock as "the best back Mansfield has faced."

* * *

"I really believe that if we can stop Zorn, we have a chance to win this game," Snyder declared today.

In order to strengthen the Tyger pass defense, big Bill Lewis will be brought back from end into the backfield tonight on defense to add some height to the secondary.

Probable starting lineups tonight:

Ohio Colleges Play Full Sked

Five Games For Today Booked Under Lights.

COLUMBUS—(AP)—Six night games, five Ohio conference frays, a dozen contests with out-of-state squads—that's the menu being dished up this week-end for Ohio college football fans.

The headliner, of course, is Saturday's struggle between Ohio State's flashy Bucks and the Trojans of Southern California, expected to attract 60,000 fans.

All of Friday's schedule is under the lights. Findlay invades New Concord for an Ohio conference game with Muskingum. Wilberforce and Tuskegee meet in Chicago, Ohio Wesleyan and Baldwin Wallace at Berea, Western Reserve and Syracuse university in Syracuse, and Western Kentucky State Teachers visiting Youngstown college.

The "Playing Colonels" of Centre, beaten 28 to 6 two weeks ago by Miami, battle the tough University of Cincinnati team Saturday night in the Queen city. Other Saturday frays are afternoon events.

LONDON'S BIG ATTRACTION FOR U. S. SOLDIERS

Doughboys on Leave Pass Up Many Beautiful Spots To Visit Old Capital.

(By International News Service)

LONDON—Dear, dirty old London is still the main attraction of the thousands of American soldiers when their all-too infrequent leave turn comes around.

It can't be the bright lights. There are none! By eight at night the town is in inky darkness; there's little transportation; the theaters are crowded, so are the movies; hotels are full, restaurants crammed, and there's just about enough to eat. Yet all the leave vouchers to soldiers are franked "London" on their leave passes.

There's the Norman beauty of Windsor Castle, the Tudor splendour of Hampton Court; the old English charm of the Cotswolds, the romantic beauty of Shakespeare's town of Stratford-on-Avon, but they are all passed up for the indefinable allure of the drab old capital.

A leisurely stroll along Regent Street, or down battered Bond Street, or along Piccadilly, with its ruins, its hotch potch of buildings, vast stores and grimy looking clubs seem to fill the wants of the majority of the American soldiers on leave.

The sight seeing urge is soon dealt with. A quick look over Westminster Abbey, still intact, a brief glance at the phoney gothic pile of the Houses of Parliament with Big Ben's tower challengingly peering skywards; St. Paul's, Wren's masterpiece with one or two war wounds but still upstanding an area of bombed desolation; a walk along Limehouse on the east side of the city, and then the inevitable gravitation to American concentrations around the west end and Charing Cross road to team up with the rest of the gregarious soldiery.

Over ten thousand passed through London recently and the American Red Cross which so efficiently tends to their eating, sleeping, amusements when on leave had their entire organization strained almost to cracking point.

All hostels were packed, emergency accommodation voluntarily provided by private citizens had to be utilized, extra food organized, and yet every jack man of them had somewhere comfortable to sleep and plenty to eat.

It was a great strain on the food controller, but they were prepared for it, so close is the cooperation between the army and the Red Cross with the local food authorities. To the Londoner it is not exactly an invasion; it's a welcome infiltration.

Books For Children

(Available at Mansfield Public Library)

A new collection of school stories of long ago and an unusual story of a summer vacation for older boys and girls are now available in the Mansfield Public Library's children's department.

THE SCHOOL BELL RINGS, by Evelyn Ray Sickels—Each of the chapters in this book is the story of an incident which took place long ago in a school or some substitute of learning. There are tales of mischief and pranks and tales of bravery and reward. It would be an especially adaptable book for reading aloud at school or at home.

TOUCHDOWN, by Adelaide Rowell—While having every appearance of being a sport story this is really only the story of Mike Grainger, a football hero, who was stricken with infantile paralysis at the peak of his career. The summer after his release from the hospital he sought the solitude of his summer home. Instead of solitude he found all the active children of Okaiyoke Court and especially the Middlebrooks who lived next door. The sports camp and the newspaper published by the members kept him too busy to mourn his handicap.

SHUT OFF WATER

Bowman Residents To Be Without It Two Hours Saturday.

Residents of Bowman street in the area between the bridge near Sixth street and the B. and O. and Erie railroads north to Harker street will be without their city water service for two hours beginning at 8 a. m. Saturday.

O. C. Kalbfleisch, waterworks superintendent, announced today that repairs to water mains in that district will be made during the two-hour period, necessitating shutting off the supply.

PEDALS BIKE 427 MILES

NEW ORLEANS—(U.P.)—Marion Wellford pedaled his bicycle 427 miles from here to Memphis, Tenn., because he wanted to see if he could "take it." And the Tulane university student made the trip in four-and-a-half days. However, he came back on the train.

HONOR CHINESE STUDENT

GLOVERSVILLE, N. Y.—(U.P.)—Democracy is more than a word to the seniors in Gloversville high school. They have elected a Chinese student, Kenneth Chu, president of the class of '43.

LOS ANGELES, Cal.—(UP)—In pursuance of the good neighbor policy Miss Frances A. Wright, assistant professor of music at the University of California has completed the examination of 2,000 folk songs of Latin-American countries all of which she reports are equal if not superior in melody to American folk songs.

Without exception, however, she added the words are all about the moon and love.

STOCK LEADERS EXTEND RALLY BY FRACTIONS

Active Opening Sees Blocks of 1,000 Shares Getting Big Buying Play.

NEW YORK—Leading stocks in today's early market dealings extended their good rally of yesterday by fractions.

At an active opening in which 1,000-share blocks were plentiful, gainers included U. S. Steel, DuPont, Chrysler, General Motors, U. S. Rubber, Sears Roebuck and General Electric.

Merchandising shares came in for further study as the Dun & Bradstreet survey indicated retail sales this week enjoyed the widest expansion since last April. The increase for the country as a whole was placed at 5 to 10 per cent.

Attention also was given the Federal Reserve summary estimating department store distribution on a nominal basis, for the week ended Oct. 3, topped the comparable 1941 period by 2 per cent. In the week concluded Sept. 26 the year-to-year upturn was 5 per cent.

What You Buy With WAR BONDS

The haversack for U. S. Marines is designed so that, without crowding, it will carry the personal articles normally required when going ashore for combat. These articles include the bayonet, intrenching shovel, toilet articles, eating utensils underclothing and C and D ration.

The haversack costs $4.24 and we need thousands upon thousands of them. For the cost of a $5 War Stamps you can buy one of these for a U. S. Marine and your purchase of War Bonds will help provide our entire Marine Corps with this necessary article of equipment. INVEST at LEAST TEN PER CENT of your income in War Bonds every pay-day.

BACKS DOUBLE SECURITY TAX

FDR Opposes Plan To Drop Automatic Boost In Payroll Levy.

ceptance of the levy to speed approval of the new revenue bill.

Driving for early passage, Democratic Leader Barkley (Ky.) said he would ask the senate to forego part of its usual week-end holiday and meet tomorrow if it appeared a final vote could be reached.

Chairman George (D., Ga.) of the finance committee predicted acceptance without change of the victory tax, one of the few remaining controversial sections, and Taft concurred in this viewpoint.

The victory tax and other features of the program drew the fire of President Philip Murray of the CIO, who declared in a letter to Vice President Wallace and senate leaders that the revenue measure was developing into an "outrageous caricature of the carefully planned treasury bill."

Murray called for adoption of treasury proposals designed, he said, to plug "a number of tax evasion loopholes through which wealthy individuals and corporations have been escaping making the fullest contribution to the war effort."

Taft said he believed that even if the victory tax won final approval by congress it likely would be converted later into a withholding device to force loans to the government to aid in financing the war.

"It would be an easy matter," he told reporters, "to alter the effect of this proposed tax by merely giving taxpayers bonds payable after the war for the amount taken from them, instead of retaining a portion of the money as direct revenue and rebating the remainder."

As approved by the finance committee, the victory tax would take 5 per cent of all individual gross income above $624 yearly, with credits for post-war rebates or current debt and insurance payments being granted to taxpayers. Single persons could claim maximum credits of 25 per cent of the tax, with a limit of $500, and married persons 40 per cent, plus 2 per cent for each dependent, with a maximum of $2,500.

If this were made a compulsory savings device, Taft said it probably would be necessary to incorporate into the tax structure a retail sales levy of 5 or 10 per cent to provide the direct taxes the treasury needs.

The senate disposed of one controversial issue yesterday, voting 52 to 34 against taxing the income from future issues of state and local bonds.

200 ARRIVE IN CITY TONIGHT FOR CHRISTIAN YOUTH PARLEY

Two hundred young people from throughout the state will arrive in Mansfield tonight for the opening session of a three-day coaching conference sponsored by the Ohio Christian Youth Council to develop leadership among the youth of all denominations.

All sessions will be held at Park Avenue Baptist church with the exception of the closing service Sunday afternoon scheduled for St. John's Evangelical and Reformed church where the noonday meal will also be served.

Dr. William E. Wickenden, president of Case School of Applied Science, Cleveland, will sound the keynote of the conference at 8 p. m. when he speaks on "Blueprints for Tomorrow's World." The social, political, economic and spiritual aspects of the conference theme will be emphasized in group conferences both Saturday morning and afternoon.

Greetings from the Richland County Christian Youth Council, host to the conference, will be extended by the local conference committee, headed by Robert Hamilton, chairman. Miss Anna Knapp is president of the county organization.

Entertainment will follow the speaking program highlighted by a season of folk dancing directed by Miss Eleanor Bond, Girl Scout executive secretary.

Saturday's sessions at 9 a. m. and 1:30 p. m., will be conducted by these leaders, Rev. Harold E. Bremer of Antioch college; Rev. Raymond R. Peters, director of Young People's Work, board of Christian Education of the Church of the Brethren, Elgin, Ill.; Dr. Leland J. Gordon of Denison university, and Rev. Paul Kershner, pastor of an East Cleveland Congregational church.

Dr. Russell J. Humbert, pastor of Epworth Methodist church in Toledo, will be the banquet speaker Saturday at 6:30 p. m. His subject will be "Designs For Tomorrow."

No program will be conducted Sunday morning in order that the delegates may attend worship services in local churches.

DIES AT AGE 86

Samuel R. Davis Stricken at Home of Son in Galion.

GALION—A native of Morrow county, Samuel R. Davis, 86, died last night at the home of his son, Jesse, 326 Atwood street, following a three-week illness.

He is survived by two sons, Jesse, of Galion, and Charles, of Columbus; two daughters, Mrs. Bertha Eckroad, of Ephrata, Pa., and Mrs. Edna Jones, of Wauchula, Fla., and two stepchildren, Mrs. Marian Brewer and Thomas Rife, both of Mansfield.

Time of funeral services has not been set but Rev. R. R. Elliker, pastor of the Reformed church, will conduct the rites at the Jesse Davis residence, and burial will be in Fairview cemetery.

WHISTLES FLOP AS WARNINGS

Mansfield's Test Alarm Proves Sirens Needed to Warn of Air Raids.

McDermid was out of the city today for conferences with siren manufacturers. Local defense officials are impressed with the system adopted in Warren where 10 two-horsepower sirens have been installed. Initial surveys here by factory representatives tended toward the recommendation for six five-horsepower sirens.

McDermid and other members of the technical committee soon will determine the proper alarm system requirements, Kalbfleisch said, and immediate action taken to purchase the equipment.

Immediately following the two-minute period beginning at 7 p. m. yesterday McDermid contacted officials of every participating plant to determine that their whistles actually were blown. Marriott and Kalbfleisch also were present at defense headquarters in City Hall to receive calls from watching wardens.

Following the failure of the test, scores of wardens, most of them fully equipped even to identifying arm brassards, visited headquarters to make direct reports and suggestions.

NAZIS SWING TO SOUTH, TRYING TO REACH VOLGA

Remain Silent on Battle For Stalingrad; Reds Drive Into German Trenches.

London that the biggest United States bomber and fighter force ever to take the air in the European war theater had been joined by the RAF and Allied fighters today in a new air blow against targets in northern France.

The fortress bombers and escorting fighters—many of which were Spitfires and Hurricanes flown by United States pilots—roared out to what was believed to have been the largest daylight operation of its kind in the war.

The objectives were not disclosed immediately, but the raid apparently was aimed primarily at the Lille region, the big industrial area of northern France.

This blow came only 48 hours after the United States Army command had warned French workers through a BBC broadcast to move away from the vicinity of French war factories which were helping the Germans.

Observers on the coast reported that one bomber force alone numbered more than 100 planes.

The operation was first observed when squadrons of Spitfires returned from the direction of Calais and Cape Gris Nez on the French side. Larger formations of fighters soon were fanning out toward the French and Belgian coasts.

Then the largest formation of United States bombers yet seen in Britain, with a big escort of Spitfires and Hurricanes, droned out over the channel past Ramsgate. Still later, glistening United States fighters, bound back from the direction of Dieppe, dived out of the sun toward Folkestone.

Canadian fighter squadrons were understood to have formed part of the fortress convoy.

Nazis Threaten to Step Up Shackling

BERLIN — (German Broadcast recorded in New York)—Germany threatened today to fetter three times as many British prisoners as have already been shackled to date if Britain shackled German prisoners.

The high command announced that 107 British officers and 1-260 non-commissioned officers and enlisted men captured at Dieppe had been fettered at noon yesterday. It said military clergymen, doctors, stretcher - bearers, the wounded and the sick were not shackled.

"On the evening of Oct. 8," the high command said, "the British war office announced that on Oct. 10 at 12 noon the same number of German prisoners of war would be fettered and chained. Should this happen, the German high command on Oct. 10 at noon will have fettered three times the number of British prisoners of war."

LONDON — (UP) — Germany's threat to shackle three times as many prisoners as the British appeared today to raise only the question of how far both sides were willing to carry their reprisal tactics.

Although there was no immediate official reaction, it was believed that Britain would not change its decision to manacle an equal number unless British prisoners were unchained by the Germans.

LONDON — (INS) — Italy today followed Germany's lead in claiming mistreatment of war prisoners and threatening reprisals against Allied captives.

In a Rome broadcast heard here by Reuters news agency, the Italian high command threatened prompt reprisal for alleged incidents in which groups of Italian prisoners supposedly were murdered by Allied troops.

There were no verifications of these claims from other sources.

SS Troops Pouring Into Norway

LONDON —(UP)— German SS troop reinforcements are pouring into Norway and special courts martial are being organized at Oslo, Trondheim, Roros and other key cities for a Gestapo blood bath to which nearly 50 Norwegian patriots already have been sacrificed, special reports indicated today.

Stockholm reported that regiments of the ruthless SS black-uniformed Nazi storm troops were moving into Oslo and other cities and concentrating in force throughout the Trondheim area, now the most turbulent trouble center in northwestern Europe.

Not only had the Germans failed to crush patriot activities in that area, according to reports from Stockholm and, through underground channels to the Norwegian government in exile here, but some elements of the Quisling traitor party were in a state of practical mutiny.

ant, bigoted, weak, compromising and sometimes unscrupulous."

Vorys, admitting that the "first sight of congress in a working session is rather shocking," observed:

"Presidents, judges, generals and novelists all compose their paper work in private. The public sees only the finished product Congress writes its laws in public. . . . It looks bad and is really very good because it is so human Presidents and bureaucrats, dictators and novelists are human, too, in doing their work. Remember that and we will continue a republic."

Bender commented:

"There are many things for which congress has been criticized, and justly so. We are not perfect. We are simply representatives of the common people of the country. Their faults are our faults, but we, like you, are united to a man to . . . win this war."

Vorys and Bender agreed with Bromfield that a central agency was needed to distribute all manpower resources among industry, agriculture and the army.

OPEN PROBE OF BOMBER CRASH

Army Investigates Accident That Cost Life of Son of Joe E. Brown.

(By International News Service)

LONG BEACH, Cal.—An army bomber crash near Palm Springs in which Captain Don E. Brown, 25, son of the stage and screen comedian, Joe E. Brown, was killed today was under investigation by a military board of inquiry.

Ferry command headquarters at Long Becah, where young Brown was stationed, said the film star's son was on a routine flight from the Pacific coast to a point in Utah when the crash occurred late yesterday.

Brown's plane crashed ten minutes after it had taken off from Palm Springs with a group of bombers in the desert nine miles north of the winter resort and burst into flames.

Lieut. Paul Herbert, commanding officer of the Ferry Command Field at Palm Springs, was informed by radio of the accident by the pilot of one of the other bombers. The officer immediately left for the scene in a small plane.

He arrived just as Capt. Brown was crawling from the burning wreckage. Brown died a few minutes later. Cause of the crash was not immediately determined.

Young Brown enlisted in the army infantry reserve in January 1939. He was commissioned a second lieutenant in the army air forces in July, 1941 and was promoted to the rank of captain two weeks ago.

SLIGHT MIX-UP

Two Men With Good Navy Names Go Into Army.

island to the Allied base of Port Moresby to the south.

Growing cooperation of the Allied forces in the battle of the Pacific was indicated by announcement of Navy Minister Angus MacDonald in Ottawa that five Canadian warships had aided the United States forces in occupying the Andreanof islands in the Aleutians.

While no further word came from this front, it was presumed the remaining Japanese foothold at Kiska was being subjected to repeated bombardments by Allied planes operating from the Andreanof base.

Japanese Shells Miss Willkie

WASHINGTON—(UP)— President Roosevelt said today he assumed that Wendell L. Willkie was carrying out extremely well the duties that the president asked him to attend to during his tour of the Middle and Far Eastern war theaters.

WITH THE CHINESE ARMY, North China—(AP)—Wendell Willkie, touring the Yellow river front, got a taste of real danger when four Japanese shells exploded yesterday near the railway on which he and his party were traveling by hand-car.

Earlier Willkie missed by only a few hours a heavy Japanese air raid on Loyang, during which enemy planes machine-gunned a blue railway coach similar to the special car in which he made part of his trip to the front.

Willkie took the shelling calmly. "It looks as though the Japs were really after us," he remarked. "I'm complimented they pay me so much attention."

From the Chinese-held south bank of the Yellow river Willkie peered 800 yards across the stream today into the muzzle of a Japanese gun poking from a cave-like emplacement high up on the north bluffs.

The Japanese apparently were unaware of Willkie's whereabouts and there was no activity aside from the earlier brief shelling.

American Planes Hit Japs In China, Burma

NEW DELHI, India —(INS)— In a three-day series of hard hitting, low altitude attacks, United States bombers have blasted Japanese communications in Burma and China, American army air force headquarters announced today. The attacks were made Oct. 2, 3 and 4.

The first assault carried the bombers over Mogaung, Burma, where they destroyed a railway bridge and rolling stock and damaged 600 feet of track. On the following day they roared over Japanese barracks southeast of Loiwing and in Yunnan province, China, heavily attacking their targets. They also bombed a suspension bridge south of Tingka, the communique said.

THREE DEAD IN FORTRESS CRASH

Five Others Injured in Army Ship Accident Near Base.

RAPID CITY, S. D. — (AP) — Three men were killed and five suffered minor injuries when a flying fortress four motored bomber, crashed near the Rapid City army air base.

The plane burst into flames after striking a hill about three miles north of the base while coming in for a landing shortly after midnight.

The objectives are:

1. Guidance into critical service and occupations; 2. Wartime citizenship; 3. Physical fitness; 4. Military drills; 5. Competence in science and mathematics; 6. Preflight training; 7. Pre-induction training for critical occupations; 8. Community service.

The superintendent said the Senior high school already is attempting to attain some of the objectives. He mentioned specifically the new pre-flight course for students who can qualify and the physical fitness program.

Rohleder said the military training could not be set up in the schools until consent of the state department of education and the board of education is obtained. The school has no one now qualified to give military training, he said.

"We want the pupils and the public to feel that this program is entirely voluntary and not one that pupils are required to join," the Senior high school principal emphasized.

The "Victory corps" plan will be administered by Supt. Miller and Rohleder and a committee which will be named shortly, it was said.

The superintendent described the program as "a fine plan for schools—the best we have seen."

He said it would do a great deal to arouse enthusiasm among the boys and girls of 'teen age who are too young for actual combat duty or for jobs in war plants.

TOO MUCH PEP

College Students Overstep Legal Limits In Scrap Drive.

LARAMIE, Wyo — (INS) — Authorities today commended the patriotic fervor of a group of University of Wyoming students in their drive to collect metal scrap for war production, but admitted the youths had over-stepped legal limits in their enthusiasm.

Before police could stop them, the students had broken down and torn out several hundred out-of-service parking meter standards for the scrap drive.

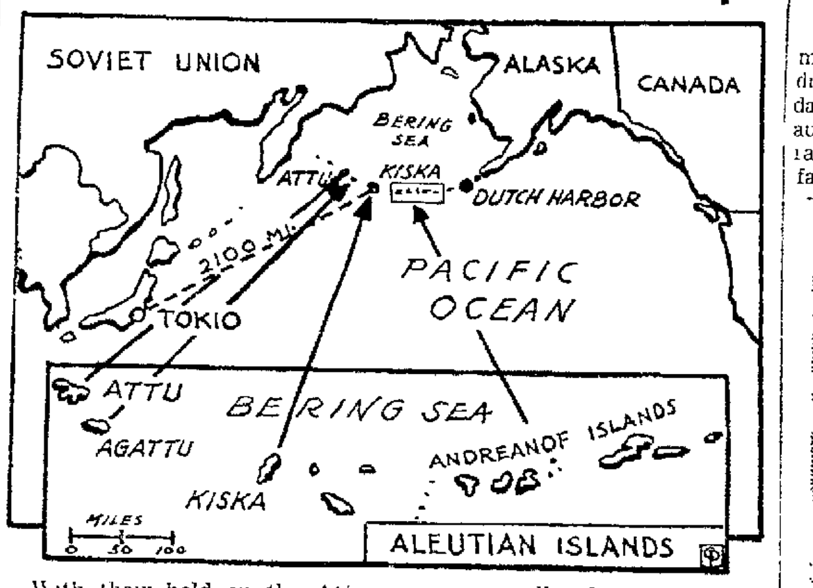
Japs Abandon Aleutian 'Trap'



With their hold on the Attu and Agattu islands on the extreme western tip of the Aleutian chain (see map) becoming untenable because of U. S. aerial raids, the Japs have abandoned the islands which military observers predicted would become "rat traps" for the invaders. The only island now remaining in their possession is Kiska, which is now subject to bombardment from the newly-established U. S. base on the Andreanof island group lying only 125 miles away.

HIGH PUPILS DIRECT OWN SCRAP DRIVE

Deny They're 'Too Big' To Aid Vital War Cause; 'M' Association Acting.

one teacher, with regard to newspaper articles, revealing a lagging Senior high scrap drive.

One girl said, "it's too bad if students think they're too big to collect; because these boys are going to be the ones that will have to fight later on and they will need this scrap."

"I don't think school officials explained the drive very well. But I will say that high school students are not willing to sacrifice very much, as is the case with most all of us," another faculty member said.

Meanwhile, two Ohio cities along with many others found that high school students do "get in the scrap." Four truck-loads of scrap were gathered up by one Lorain high school boy, who rounded up a truck and some 10 or 12 of his buddies to help him. In Cleveland students of all ages helped make the scrap drive a success there.

A sophomore girl said, "Well, I don't think we're doing what we should do, after all there's a war to be won and we certainly can't do it just talking."

Teachers generally held to the opinion that the difference in age between grade school pupils and high school students had much to do with the failure of the drive, although they admitted that nothing had been done to change this attitude.

Another teacher pointed out "That picture in the paper was enough to tell the story. The age difference has a lot to do with it, but high school students haven't become war conscious."

"I don't exactly know how to feel, maybe we don't want to bring scrap to school, but we should at least try. We have to get in and fight," one boy said.

And in line with the "M" association's taking over the campaign was the idea expressed by one student who said. "I don't think the kids have been doing much about it. If we could get a certain club to back the drive and give talks in assembly it would be much better. We don't realize how much a little bit counts."

One teacher said emphatically, "It's about time that The News-Journal learned about psychology! Anyone knows that high school students won't go rooting after scrap the way little children do. Besides there are many other ways for older children to help." But upon being asked in what specific "other ways" the senior high school students were helping, she had no answer.

18TH TRAFFIC FATALITY

Sons Find Father Dead In Field on Farm Near City

Frank Zwilling, 66, retired Washington township blacksmith, whose body was found shortly after noon yesterday in a field near his farm home, south of Mansfield, died as the result of a heart attack, Acting Coroner A. C. Biddle said today.

Two sons, Elmer and Edward, who live at the home, found the body not far from the barn when their father failed to return to the house for dinner.

Mr. Zwilling apparently was in good health when he went to the field to work in the morning, members of the family said. He had been dead several hours when the body was found the acting coroner reported.

Born April 5, 1876, in Springfield township, Mr. Zwilling was a blacksmith for many years in Lexington and Washington township. He retired to take up farming.

The body was removed to the Wappner funeral home where services will be conducted at 3 p. m. Monday. Burial will be in the Lexington cemetery.

Surviving are the widow, Mrs. Elda Sheckler Zwilling; four sons, Elmer F. and Edward K. Zwilling, at home; Pvt. Harry Zwilling, Camp White, Ore.; and Howard C. Zwilling of Howard, O.; three daughters, Mrs. Harry Baughman, Mt. Vernon; Mrs. Forest Brickley, Akron, and Mrs. George Pfeifer of Mansfield; four sisters, Mrs. Charles Scott and Mrs. Ida Fleck, both of Springfield township, and Mrs. Ella Rodocker and Mrs. Henry Foltz of Mansfield, and seven grandchildren.

SHE SHOULDN'T HAVE MISSED IT

'I Love You' In Code Proves Puzzle to Girl at Army H.Q.

BALTIMORE —(AP)— A girl at Third Service Command headquarters telephoned Pratt library asking help decoding an official message.

"I can't understand what went wrong," she told Miss Mildred Donohue. "I know the soldier who sent it, and he's very smart. The first part is clear enough—just some army orders. But there is a line that doesn't make any sense."

Miss Donohue went to work with a radio telegraph code book. Then she called the puzzled girl.

"I've translated the message," she told her. "It reads: 'I love you.'"

GAS ASSURED

Migratory Workers In Ohio To Be Able To Get Home.

COLUMBUS —(AP)— Migratory farm laborers working in Ohio will be allotted sufficient gasoline to return to their homes after nationwide gasoline rationing goes into effect, Price Administrator Leon Henderson informed Gov. John W. Bricker.

Bricker had telegraphed Henderson that Mexican laborers, fearful gasoline rationing would strand them in Ohio, were deserting sugar beet fields.

TELLS OF VAST RUBBER SOURCE

Army Officer Says Brazil Can Give Us 1,500,000 Tons a Year at $1 a Pound.

He advocated renegotiation of those agreements with provisions for payments of $1 per pound or more for the rubber, and recommended "throwing the Brazil nuts away."

"You will find a lot of cooperation and rubber (in Brazil) for one or more dollars per pound," he said.

"A lot of money is being spent there (the Amazon basin) to promote and to talk people into getting more rubber out. If this money was put in the market, less talking and more rubber would result. Diplomacy and trade agreements will not take the place of supply and demand in the Amazon basin."

Before the Brazilian declaration of war against the Axis, Dove said he was certain that the Axis powers were doubling and tripling the American offer for rubber. He emphasized that most South Americans preferred to deal with the United States but could not refuse the higher prices of the Axis.

The rubber output of South America, he said, would exceed by more than 300,000 tons the estimate set by the Baruch rubber committee as the needs of the nation during the coming 15 months of the war.

earth and wear out their tires to get the very thing they should leave alone.

"The government asks them to cut down on tea, put up by the little devils that killed their brothers at Pearl Harbor, and they just can't get along without their tea and coffee, no matter if all the men on all the ships go down trying to get it here.

"They have run the chain stores out of everything hard to get but scratch grain and onions. Then they trot to the poor little home-owned store and give him the devil for not having enough stock to care for the chain customers too. Really it seems that more folks came up from hogs than monkeys.

"Monkeys have monkeyed around with the synthetic rubber proposition until we have to walk in the snow and slush while they fight over whether to use wheat or oil. Too much monkey business as well as too much hog."

Pelton ended with, "God speed the day when all our boys return and this monkey hoggishness comes to an end."

'WHAT'S YOUR NAME?' NEW AT CITY LIBRARY

They're Being 'Frozen' By Draft, Rationing, Author Says In Interesting Book.

Louis Adamic points up a new side to the government "freezing" program in his book, "What's Your Name?" that has been added to the Mansfield Public library collection.

The author explores every aspect of the desperately complicated "name" question and in one section of his book deals with the way names are being frozen by draft registration, sugar and gas rationing, social security, and other factors.

"To change or not to change one's name" is the thought motivating the book and the author has treated the question in a fascinating manner

RETREAT TO VICTORY by Allan Michie, the well-known contributor to "Fortune" and "Life," tells the complete story of what happened in Crete, Greece Iran, Libya, Egypt--and why. In personal touch with every phase of the war since September, 1939, his unprejudiced analysis presents Britain and her setbacks in a true light, placing blame where it rightfully belongs.

I HEARD THE ANZACS SINGING by Margaret L. Macpherson is not a travel book It is a highly personal glimpse of Australia and its leaders in every field of modern life. We want to know Australia and New Zealand now and this book is our answer on every topic from public health and politics to tea-time conversations and the best painters and writers.

SEE HERE, PRIVATE HARGROVE by Marion Hargrove is a collection of articles about the first stages of becoming a soldier in the American army, as it seemed to a former newspaper man whose introduction to army life took place at Fort Bragg, North Carolina.

Other nonfiction: THE NEW ORDER IN POLAND- Segal; IT RUNS IN THE FAMILY--Ellenwood, FROM THE HUNTER'S BOW--Edgerly, NORTH ATLANTIC PATROL—Coale, GLOBAL WAR Mowrer; FEEDING THE LIONS, AN ALGONQUIN COOK BOOK--Case THRIFTY COOKING FOR WARTIME—Winn-Smith, MY BEST GIRLS—Hokinson; ALASKA UNDER ARMS—Potter, AMERICAN UNITY AND ASIA--Buck.

THE SEVENTH CROSS by Anna Seghers is the story of a few days in the life of George Heisler, the last of seven men who managed to escape from a German concentration camp The reader shares the day-to-day and hour-to-hour emotions of a hunted man afraid to speak to or seek out his friends and wondering all the while if each day is to be his last. This is not just another thriller; on the contrary, the way the story is told, the full development of each character the interweaving of action make it outstanding.

THE LIEUTENANT'S LADY by Bess Streeter Aldrich has for its setting early Omaha and the forts along the Missouri river just after the Civil war When Cynthia Colsworth jilts Lt Norman Stafford, he marries her cousin, Linnie, and the novel shows the growth of their love amidst the hardships of frontier life. A terrific journey, down the river in flat boats, tests and develops their affection into great and enduring love.

THE JUST AND UNJUST by James Gould Cozzens is a modern novel centering on a murder trial in a county seat Each day after court is adjourned, the lawyers and others are concerned with their own problems, but all are affected by the course of the law which grinds on in spite of personal crises It is a realistic story with well-drawn characters.

AN INDEPENDENT NEWSPAPER

MANSFIELD, OHIO, FRIDAY, OCTOBER 9, 1942.

We are fighting this war for the preservation of righteousness, law and order, but above all for the preservation of the freedoms which have been conferred upon us by the glorious heritage of our American citizenship, and for these same freedoms in other countries of the United Nations.—Ambassador Joseph C. Grew.

Time To Think About Election

MEETINGS such as the one held Monday evening by the Mansfield League of Women Voters have value which is sometimes lacking in similar pre-election gatherings sponsored by one or the other political party.

As a non-partisan organization the League of Women Voters invites candidates of both parties to be present and to speak briefly, thus giving opportunity to see and hear each of the candidates who avails himself of the opportunity, and to form impressions based on observation rather than hearsay.

There has been difficulty thus far in arousing public interest in the November election, now less than four weeks ahead, and a national poll indicates that this lethargic attitude spreads over the entire country—which is to be particularly regretted in this testing year of democracy in action.

Mansfield is to have at least two opportunities, before election day, for display of greater interest, with both candidates for governor scheduled for appearance here. Democrats have announced a meeting for Tuesday, October 13, with John McSweeney, the party nominee for governor, as principal speaker, and Republicans plan to have Governor John W. Bricker, candidate for re-election, here Friday, October 23.

Importance of the offices to be filled—county, district, state and judicial—merits a wide-awake attitude on the part of all eligible voters and on Tuesday, November 3 an important duty of American citizenship will be to go to the polls and cast a vote.

Keep Small Coins Moving

TURN pennies, nickels and dimes into war savings stamps as quickly as possible, the treasury department asks, instead of putting them away until a can or jar is filled.

Why? Because mints have been running overtime in an unsuccessful effort to keep up with wartime demand for small coins.

In addition to the legitimate uses for small coins, millions of nickels, dimes and quarters are detained overlong in slot machines over the country, which are enjoying a rich haul as a result of free spending by recipients of big wages.

So the coins that are not in slot machine storage must be kept moving as rapidly as possible. Instead of putting away cash to buy war savings bonds, turn the cash into war savings stamps which you can exchange for a bond when you get enough of them.

Trace Cause of Plane Crashes

BELIEF is growing that plane crashes which involve loss of life of men in military service are being more complacently accepted than is justified by their frequency.

Commenting on the crash of an army bomber at the Akron airport a few days ago, in which seven air corps men were killed, the Beacon Journal says:

"It is a shame that the lives of these eager young men should have been lost so uselessly. Who knows what a toll of the enemy they might have taken, individually or collectively, if they had been spared to carry out the missions for which they had been training."

Nor is the Beacon Journal satisfied with an officer's explanation that "with thousands of planes in the air all over the country, things like this must be expected."

It is asked, "Why must such accidents occur? Hasn't someone failed to do his job somewhere along the line every time a plane falls? Maybe it was the man who designed the plane. Maybe it was one of the many men who made it. Maybe it was the pilot who was at the controls on that last fatal takeoff."

The suggestion seems proper that every plane crash should be traced to its cause—and action taken to prevent repetition, else this futile waste of lives will materially hamper the actual fighting for which there is great need of men and planes.

No Time To Give 'Correct Time'

ANOTHER of the "something for nothing" services which some people are finding it difficult to get along without is the "correct time" information which telegraph companies had been accustomed to give in answer to several hundred telephone inquiries each day in Mansfield.

Telegraph offices, like other utilities, are now working at high pressure, with a tremendous volume of vitally important messages being sent and received, and they are also under the handicap of not being able to get sufficient trained office help.

The total of several hours wasted each day in giving the "correct time" over the telephone was found to interfere seriously with actual requirements of business. So inquirers are now told that the "correct time" can no longer be given—in the hope that more people will remember to wind their clocks and watches, and to keep them accurately adjusted.

Enemy Shipping Also Hit

WE HEAR about our own losses by submarine, but we do not always realize what the enemy has also suffered. Since the first of June 60,000 tons of Mediterranean shipping belonging to the Axis have been sunk by United Nations flyers.

That may go a long way to explaining the retreat of Rommel in North Africa.

"I am only one," said Edward Everett Hale, "but I am one. I cannot do much but I can do something. What I can do I ought to do, and what I ought to do—with God's help, I will do."

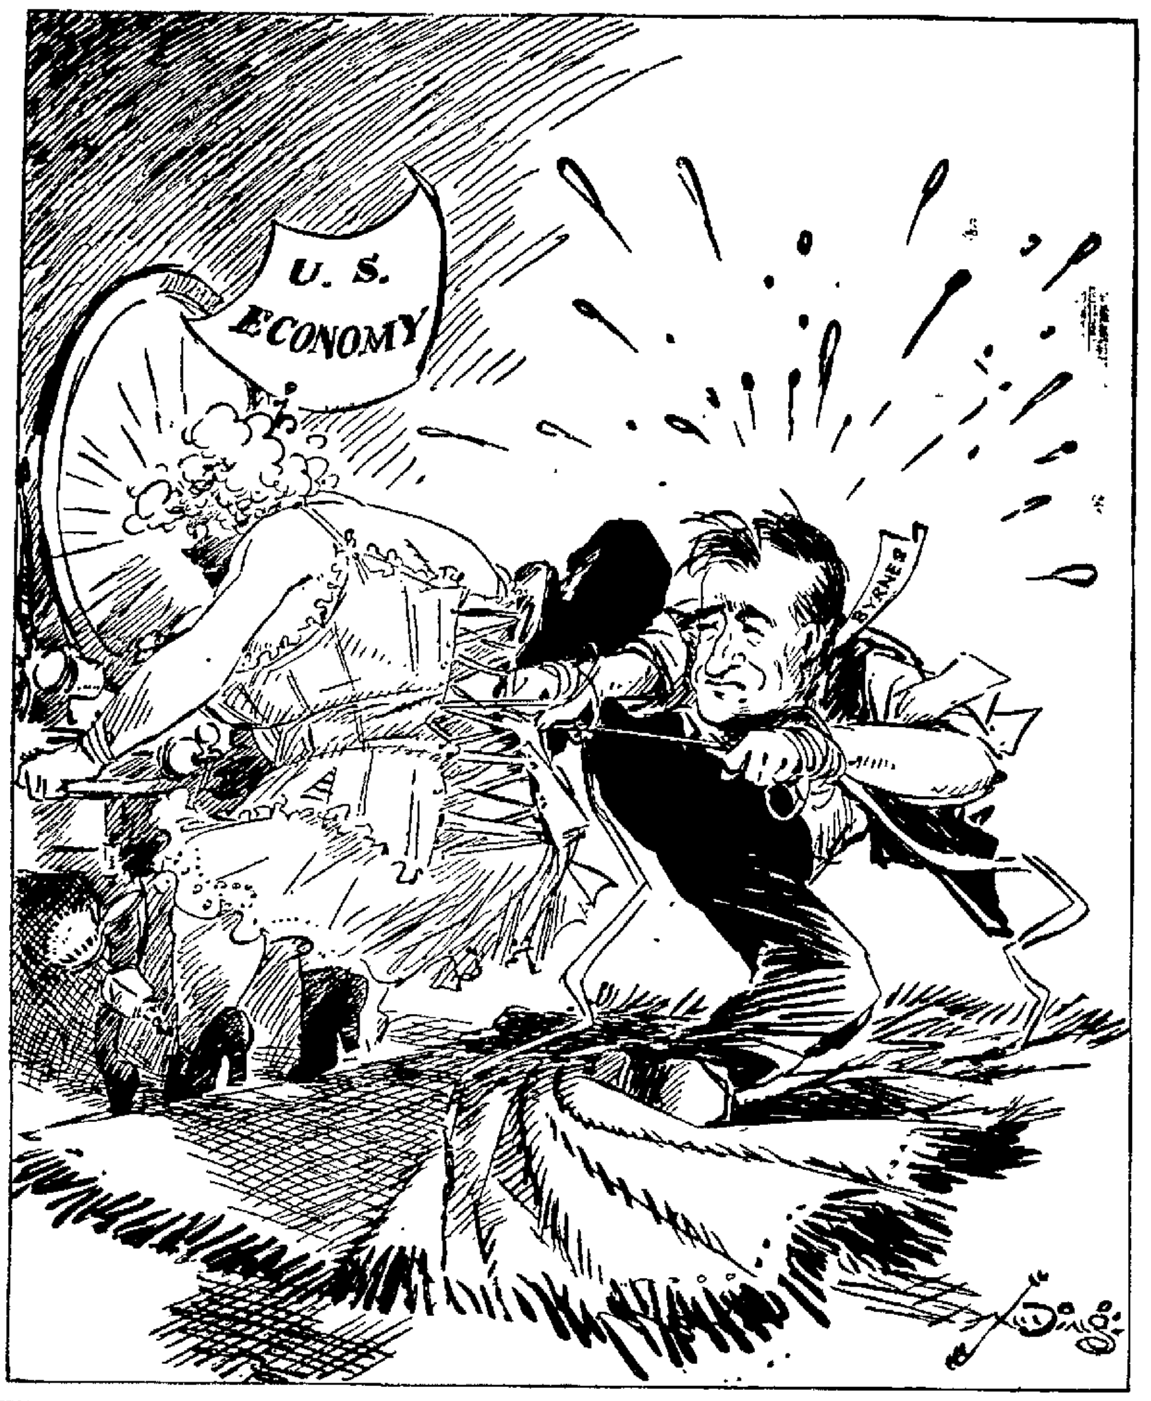
Hitler refers to enemies of the Axis as "idiots"—probably not realizing the mildness of this designation as compared to their opinion of him.

At least one reader thinks that failure to ration coffee provides proper grounds for complaint.

It is getting so the lives of reckless drivers are being saved in spite of themselves.

Any time is the right time to buy a war bond.

PUTTING ON THE SQUEEZE



Less 'Than Rubble' Awaits Japan

—By CHARLES P. STEWART

WASHINGTON — It's hard to pick up a newspaper these days without encountering a reference or so to some European city as having been "blasted into a heap of rubble" by enemy aviators.

Rubble is so often mentioned, in fact, that the term's becoming a trifle tiresome. Rubble isn't the most unsubstantial stuff that a city can be transformed into, anyway. Good fireproof rubble, even if pretty badly shattered, can be scooped up and plastered back into some sort of an apology as a shelter.

Furthermore, it doesn't appear that planes succeed in knocking down a whole big city at a time—not if it's of modern Occidental construction. They make rubble out of a few selected buildings, but the rest, escaping direct hits on their specific premises, survive with comparatively minor damage.

It isn't cities only that require attention, either. Entire enemy countrysides need to be devastated.

No imaginable force of flyers could get away with so large a contract in detail, but there's one part of the world where it might very well be handled on a wholesale basis. That's in the Orient—Japan particularly.

Jap cities consist, each, of a very, very little structural steel and masonry basis.

Otherwise their raw material is bamboo and rice paper, pasted together. They include quite a few pretty sizable edifices, but that makes em all the more combustible.

One Big Bonfire.

If ever an extensive, thickly-populated area was made to order for the convenience of incendiaries, it's Nippon. Approximately three or four dozens of industrial plants, hotels, government offices and imperial palaces will have to be "rubble-ized" doubtless, but, from their ruins, the flames'll spread in every direction automatically. They'll spread into Japanese crops and villages and granaries and warehouses and farm shacks everywhere. The whole surface of the archipelago, once it gets going, will be one vast bonfire.

It won't be mere rubble that the Japs'll have left on their hands. It won't be so much as cinders. It'll be ashes, that'll have floated heavenward and blown away.

Visiting aviators won't have had to spill many explosives overboard, incidentally, to leave all this scorched earth behind 'em. A handful of bombs will have been required to furnish a modicum of rubble, but handfuls of lighted matches or blazing waste will have been sufficient to quarantee the main conflagration.

Now, certain of our recent American arrivals from Nippon, exchanged to us for corresponding Japs caught, by the war, in our midst, incline to discount these possibilities.

For example, Joseph C. Grew, our ex-ambassador to Tokyo, warns us that the Japs will outlast the Germans, in arms against us. Joseph Dynan, a Yankee newspaper correspondent back from the Mikado's capital, asserts that Jap militarists are girding for a 50-year fight, if necessary. Various experienced commentators agree with 'em.

How Long a Wag?

I don't argue as to the Jap militarists. They're a bughouse class. Their own countrymen so consider 'em. They're a smallish group, though. It's true they're formidable, because they act cohesively and dangerously. But, as a tail, can they wag all Japan indefinitely?

Jimmie Doolittle's aviatorial scoot across the Nippon folk's main island, dropping dynamite as he traveled, gives rise to the query:

Would the Jap rank-and-file continue to stand nationally pat in the event of a prolonged and intensive succession of such drives, burning 'em up completely? The militarists would stand pat unquestionably. They don't mind dying or taking others with 'em. But the average Jap has his preference.

Looking Back

TWENTY YEARS AGO TODAY

Monday, Oct. 9, 1922.

Police pension fund was boosted $720 by share of special motion picture, "In the Name of the Law," shown at Opera House.

G. A. Warner home on Penn avenue was damaged by fire.

Henry and Arthur Haupt bought the Art wallpaper store at 19 East Fourth street.

Mrs Louis Spellman, recent bride, was surprised by members of her Sunday school class at her home on Springmill street.

J. J. Kwass moved from Mansfield to Lynchburg, Va.

Rev. Charles B. Hess, Central Methodist pastor, was elected president of the Mansfield Ministerial association.

Dr. and Mrs. Earl Oberlin, former residents, were here from Tampa, Fla., for a visit.

TODAY IN HISTORY

The General Court of the Colony of Connecticut met at New Haven this date, 1701, and a charter was granted "for the founding, suitably endowing and ordering a Collegiate School within his Majesty's colony of Connecticut." The founders chose the Rev. Abraham Pierson as rector of the school and it was at his parsonage in Killingworth that the first scholar sought admission in 1702. This was the beginning of Yale University.

Appreciation

Norfolk Navy Yard, Va.

Editor News-Journal:

I wish you would convey to the people of Mansfield my deepest gratitude for the most wonderful reception I received. I know that no one could have been made more welcome than I was, and only hope that some day we shall meet again, for Mansfield, Ohio has taken a large place in my heart. To all those many friends I didn't have time to visit, please forgive me, but I shall never forget them. So once more, please give my thanks to all.

Sincerely,
ERIC TURNER

(Editor's Note—Eric Turner is the Mansfield, England, able seaman who spent a few days leave in Mansfield recently and who has now returned to his ship. Mansfielders enjoyed his visit and are glad that he had a pleasant time while here.)

Health and Diet

Constitutional Inadequacy of Patients.

—By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

"THE MAIN trouble with many of the patients I see every day is that they are always weak and tired, and full of pain, and always getting sick in one way or another. Many have been operated on several times, and still aren't well."

So writes my friend, Dr Alvarez, of the Mayo Clinic, about the group of people he says have constitutional inadequacy. He says they are getting a raw deal from the medical profession.

Over and over again they go to some medical institution to have a "thorough overhauling," and always a consultant finds some little defect that he views with alarm and has fixed, and the poor victim thinks he or she is going to get better, but never does.

Favorite diagnoses on such people just now are colitis, spastic colon, chronic appendicitis, mild endocrine gland disorder, low blood calcium, vitamin deficiency, and low blood pressure.

The fact is that some people are put together in a way that makes them constitutionally inadequate to take the hard knocks and do the hard work of the world. Their muscles are thin and weak. Their digestion is under par. Their abdominal organs are dropped. The muscles of the bowel are weak.

Easily Infected.

They take cold and get other infections easily. Physicians should recognize this more frequently, Dr. Alvarez thinks and tell these people frankly they are never going to be "cured" in the sense that they will have blooming health. Their fundamental condition is ineradicable and they should adjust their lives to a lower level of energy expenditure.

In most cases the doctor should be able to recognize these patients on their appearance. Certainly after listening to their story. They are chronically fatigued, they have had much disability, much treatment, they are under weight, the muscles are thin, they sag in some degree or other.

At other times it is not so evident—when the patient is a big, well-muscled man, or a straight, fine-looking woman. But then the history makes things clearer—frequent severe disablements after every little infection, accident or motional crisis. "Dad may look big and strong, but let him get a pimple on the nose and he'll be laid up for two weeks."

As to treatment, Dr. Alvarez believes that they should be told frankly that no spectacular treatment is going to make a "husky" of such a person. There is a kind of prejudice against such frankness on the grounds that it discourages them. My experience, however, is that it really is a relief — and that they get what amounts to a cure by adjusting their lives to their body's capacity.

Darwin an Example.

Many of them have done great work in the world—Darwin was a typical example. He could only work an hour or more a day, a trip to London would upset him for a week, yet he lived to be 73.

Certainly much of their trouble comes from emotional upsets and these the physician must help them to control -- they get into fusses with street car conductors, clerks in stores, relatives. They waste their energy on foolish thinking, worrying, conscience searching, jealousies, flare-ups — all of which exhaust them physically.

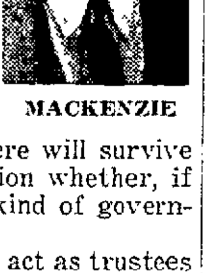
Interpreting the War News

Mutual Interests Are Recognized By Nazi-Ridden Nations of Europe

—By DE WITT MACKENZIE

LONDON—Efforts to forecast the needs of a wholly shattered and disorganized postwar Europe are intensifying in London among refugee governments of small nations enslaved by Adolf Hitler.

Here we have the symbolic governments of Belgium, Czechoslovakia, the Netherlands, Norway, Poland, Greece and Yugoslavia. These orphans of the Hun blood bath represent an odd mixture of countries whose prewar interests, both political and economical, made them highly individualistic.



MACKENZIE

Now, however, as they drift about on an ocean so vast they cannot see its shores, one thing clear to them is that postwar Europe must be one for all and all for one. There must be unselfish coordination of effort.

Beyond that I don't believe one of these government's dreams are based on anything more than wishes. They don't know whether the countries they are trying to represent here will survive in their present form. They have small notion whether, if they do survive, they will restore the same kind of governments they had before the war.

The best these representatives can do is to act as trustees who will serve until the enemy is evicted. Then they will turn their affairs over to the people at home, having kept the world conscious of their countries during the long blackout of war.

ONE of the outstanding figures associated with this effort at coordination is Ambassador Anthony Biddle, America's envoy to all these governments in exile.

The last time I saw Mr. Biddle was in the fall of 1938, just after Munich, when I was a guest in his ambassadorial home in Warsaw. At that time we talked of many things relating to the volcanic condition of Europe and it was interesting to note when we resumed our conversation here that some of the threads ran continuously through the four years.

Ambassador Tony, as his many friends call him, is a striking example of the rich man—at least he is reputed to have great wealth—who has preferred to devote his energies to world problems rather than spend his time at play.

The refugee governments here in London, having no idea what they may find at home after the war, must be prepared for a political turn which may be either to the right or left. The people of Europe are likely to be grasping as straws to save themselves and will seize any ism that looks good to them or seems to be the least of evils.

In this connection the governments are taking full note of the great swing the social pendulum is making. They figure the democratic world's trials have made it more social minded, more "people conscious," more anxious to serve and create greater opportunity for everybody.

Or you can put it this way: wealth isn't durable if other people are hungry.

I understand that with this handwriting on the wall to guide them, the governments are focusing attention on greater opportunities for everybody. As signs now read, this ideal, which is one of the points of the Atlantic Charter, may become the great bond among continental peoples.

Out of this ultimately might grow a United States of Europe.

Watching Trends

—By JACK STINNETT

WASHINGTON — About 16 months ago, President Roosevelt elevated Sen. James Francis Byrnes to the United States Supreme Court.

"Why?" asked both the off-side and on side politicians in almost the same breath.

"Jimmy" Byrnes, then majority leader of the senate, was the "little fox" of administration politics. The president, they said, was pulling out his strongest congressional prop. He was, they continued, relegating his most popular legislative leader to the political graveyard — the Supreme Court.

THE answer to that criticism should now be pretty clear. The president was only saving "Jimmy" Byrnes for that day when he needed him more than he ever had before. For almost a year and a half, with one crisis following another, Associate Justice James F. Byrnes has been sitting serenely on the sidelines, hiding his light under that marble basket which is the highest court in the land; and nursing, through many storms, one of the best political reputations the New Deal has turned out.

Then came the necessity for appointing a stabilization czar to administer the sweeping anti-inflation legislation.

This meant calling up a man who could stand back of frozen wages and farm price ceilings. It meant appointing an executive who could straighten out the political muddle that has caused so much criticism of the otherwise competent price administrator, Leon Henderson. It meant setting up a four-star general of cost-of-living stabilization who could demand respect from the public and reverence from the politicians.

It's a rare—almost unheard of—thing for a U. S. Supreme Court justice to step down from the security of that high bench to take over a spot on the firing line, even when that spot is economic chief of staff to the president himself. Nevertheless, the move is characteristic of "Jimmy" Byrnes.

Small, wiry, sharp-featured, nervous, energetic Byrnes is not the kind to walk out his life in the sombre robes of a supreme court justice. The story goes that he wanted that job on the court more than he wanted anything else and the president, recognizing both ability and a debt for work well done, gave it to him. Perhaps the president knew then that "Jimmy" wouldn't like it so well that he couldn't be called out to battle again when the need should come.

Man About Manhattan

Welcome Autumn

—By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—It will not be giving aid and comfort to the enemy to report that New York's seven millions are mighty happy over this brand-new fall weather we're having. Summer in New York is about as pleasant to anticipate as a non-stop submarine voyage to Cape Horn, and this year's was one of the worst.

Even the artificial flowers in the windows of the five-and-dime palaces seemed less lifelike than usual. What made it worse was that we couldn't boast — through the medium of wired weather stories—of our extremes in heat and humidity. You know how it helps if you can belittle the temperature recorded by the town next door, and sneeringly invite its residents to come and live where it's really hot.

AUTUMN in New York City, though—it's really something. For six weeks or longer, the made-to-order weather varies little. It's the best time for a visit or a round of playgoing. Your relatives, who a month ago would have asked you how soon you were going home again, will be more inclined to ask how long you can stay. Certainly they'll be more obliging about taking you places and there's much to see.

Fort Tryon, on the northern tip of Manhattan island, is one of my favorite spots this time of year. On high ground, it offers a magnificent view of the Hudson and the Palisades, and the thickly wooded hills are bespattered with reds and browns and yellows. It's a great spot to go any time of the year if you're desperate for a breath of air that isn't contaminated with oil and tar and carbon monoxide, and all it costs is a nickel for the subway.

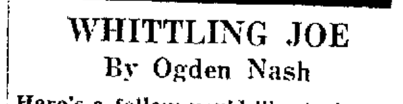
CENTRAL PARK is another of these breathing places which is eye-filling in the fall. To me, Central Park deserves mention with the Seven Wonders because it is a wonder the park was let alone. The politicians learned a good many years ago that any suggestion to "improve" Central Park was one good way of getting voted out of office. It was during Grant's term as president, I believe, that there was an effort made to use the site for a world's fair, and the angry bellow from the ordinarily docile natives of Manhattan island never has ceased echoing.

Some sections of the park are actually wild, with steep wooded hillsides that remind you of Pennsylvania and Wisconsin, and they, to, are blooming in the reigning colors of the season.

Even if there were no cheerful colors to consider, fall still would be something. The winds are boisterous and aggressive, unlike the lazy and sulking breezes of the summer, and seem to say, "Come on, boys, let's clean out this joint." They work in among the narrow street canyons and bring clean smells from far-away places, smells so fresh and surprising that sometimes you look around and wonder if you still aren't back in that little place you came from.



ROAD TO VICTORY!

WHITTLING JOE

By Ogden Nash

Here's a fellow you'd like to know.
A citizen named Whittling Joe.
Joe is whittling in a plant,
Whittling things the Axis can't,
Whittling with his sharp machines
Cargo ships and submarines,
Whittling bombers, whittling tanks,
Whittling shells in shiny ranks—
Shave a sliver off Benito,
Slice a slab off Hirohito,
And Joseph really whets his whittler
Whistling as he whittles Hitler.
That's a job that Joe enjoys,
Whittling down the Axis boys.
Whittling Joe is never through;
He likes to whittle with dollars, too.
So every payday Joe is fond
Of Whittling Hitler with a Bond,
Multiplied by fifty million.
Whittling Joe is some civilian.

A Farmer's Diary

Starlings

—By CALVIN A. BYERS

I SAW a farm boy of high school age out by his father's barn with his new rifle.

"What are you shooting?" I inquired.

"Starlings and English sparrows. They go into those holes at the edge of the stack, or under the barn eaves," he said. "Those black devils are the noisiest, dirtiest birds anywhere around. Why last year, right along the square in town, they crowded in so folks couldn't sleep at night because of their racket — and they had to keep the street cleaning department busy with the birds' droppings to make the sidewalks passable. Dad got me this new rifle to shoot as many as I can. Lately I'm gettin' pretty good. I killed an average of 35 for the last three days!"

I took his rifle into my hands, and sighted along the barrel. "It's a dandy," I remarked, "and you're a good shot. But I don't believe your Dad knows those starlings are friends of his—they eat Japanese beetles, May beetles, cut worms and grasshoppers. They're not all bad — just overdone in spots, perhaps, for they multiply so rapidly.

"Sixty starlings were brought here from Europe in 1890 and released in a New York park. Since then — in about 50 years -- they have gone as far west as the Rockies, north into Canada, and south to the Gulf. Those chunky, energetic black birds are helping to maintain the balance of Nature against the insects—when they are killed every farmer suffers."

"But how do people know what insects a bird eats?" he wondered.

"At the agricultural colleges the research department examines the gizzards of birds—and out of 2600 starlings, all had the remains of Japanese beetles, cut worms, and similar pests," I told him.

"Well—gee! That's important news. Any bird that's anti-Jap oughta have a chance. I'll concentrate on sparrows from now on. Stop by some day when pop and grandpap are here and talk to them about it—will you?"

THEATERS

Baseball Glorified.

Telling an inspiring story of a great American, a poor immigrant's son, who became one of the greatest sports figures of all time, "The Pride of the Yankees," opening Saturday at the Ohio, has Gary Cooper in the leading role of Lou Gehrig. Although baseball forms the colorful background of the picture the latter is merely incidental to the story of Gehrig himself. The story traces Gehrig's life from the time he was a kid and able to bat a ball farther than anyone else on his block through his years with the New York Yankees. Teresa Wright has the role of Gehrig's wife and the cast includes Babe Ruth and Walter Brennan.

Musical Comedy.

Victor Mature has the role of a boxing champion so handsome he's starred in a Broadway show just to attract the feminine patronage in the Madison headliner, "Footlight Serenade," opening Saturday. Starring Betty Grable and John Payne the film deals with the efforts of Jane Wyman and Cobina Wright, jr., to cop off Mature and Payne when Betty Grable isn't looking. The show is filled with music and dancing and Hermes Pan, the dance director, is teamed with Miss Grable in several routines. "Tombstone," starring Richard Dix, shares the bill.

Farce Comedy.

Jane Withers tries her hand at farce comedy in "The Mad Martindales," the Ritz attraction showing through Saturday. Depicting the adventures of a sub-deb daughter in a sub-normal family the picture is filled with a series of hilarious situations as Jane goes in for sophisticated comedy. Alan Mowbray and Marjorie Weaver are in the cast. In "Below the Border," the second film, Buck Jones, Tim McCoy and Raymond Hatton furnish a triple threat to cattle rustlers near the Mexican border.

War Drama.

The story of five R. A. F. flyers shot down in occupied France and the efforts of a French girl to help them escape furnishes thrilling drama in "Joan of Paris," the Park attraction. Co-starring two new French stars, Michele Morgan and Paul Henreid, the picture s[illegible] the grapevine method used to effect escape and deals with romance that springs within shot of the Gestapo. Laird Cregar, May Robson and Thomas Mitchell are in the cast. "Treat 'Em Rough," with Eddie Albert, is the second attraction.

CAMP HAS WOMAN BARBER

CAMP ROBERTS, Cal. — (UP)— Another first has been chalked up by women here. Attractive Miss Earleen Deaton, formerly of Okemah, Okla., is the first feminine barber to work in the camp barber shops here. She learned her trade in Fresno, Cal.

LOANS
FOR EMPLOYED WOMEN
We're addressing any employed woman in this community who has a problem which cash can solve.
Borrowing money is never wise if it means making difficulties worse . . . but there are certain circumstances in which a well-planned loan is the best way to get out of debt many times. Obligations which seem discouraging when added up in a lump can be paid off comfortably when broken down into monthly payments. And when ready cash isn't available for needed medical or dental work, clothing, for training which will increase one's earning power—then a loan is also common-sense.
Here at Personal Finance Company we specialize in serving women. If you need cash—$10 to $250 or more—we'll see that you get it without embarrassment or delay, without involving your friends or employer and without the need for putting up special security. We make loans on just your own signature — because we have found that business women, in this community, honor their obligations.
There is no difficulty in handling monthly payments on a loan here. For example:
$7.53 a Month Repays a $75 Loan in 12 Months
If you need cash, we'll be glad to serve you. Special quick service during lunch hour. Come in or phone then if that's best for you. It will be a pleasure to serve you.

SPUR HUNT FOR MAN WHO SHOT AT OFFICER

FBI Agents, Military Police Seek Man Linked With Bucyrus Shooting.

BUCYRUS—F. B. I. agents, postoffice inspectors, military police and special Chicago police squads are continuing their hunt for 32 year old Irwin Kadens, one time postoffice clerk, sought in three states for varied offenses, one of which is assault to kill a Bucyrus sheriff's officer, Sept. 15.

Kadens is wanted for desertion from the army, two rape charges, two charges of attempted rape, a kidnaping charge under the Lindbergh act, one mail robbery charge and assorted robbery and automobile theft charges.

Kadens' law breaking activities dated from a furlough in July when he failed to return to Camp Grant, Ill.

Kadens escaped from sheriff's officers who were assisted by law enforcement officers from Wyandot, Seneca and Marion counties, in an all night search through corn fields and farms west of Bucyrus. The man abandoned a stolen car in which he was traveling and took to the fields in the dark after exchanging a volley of shots with Deputy Sheriff Ralph Schreck at the Point Place service station west of Bucyrus.

Schreck had been tipped off that the man was attempting to trade a new spare tire for gasoline at the station.

His identification was made through effects carried in the car and through fingerprinting which linked him with offenses in Illinois and Michigan.

Kaden's wife, Jeannette, war plant worker of Chicago, mother of two young daughters, told officers today that she could not understand "what had got into" her husband. She admitted that she hadn't heard from him and had no clues to his strange behavior. Fellow employes at the post office where Kadens formerly worked said he was a heavy race horse gambler and that he enlisted in the army last spring to escape creditors.

News In Crawford County Courts

BUCYRUS—Probate court: A marriage license has been issued to Arthur Charles Evans, 39, Galion, miller, and Ethel E. Tracht, 35, Galion, bookkeeper.

A license to wed has been issued to Van Vaughn, 58, carpenter, Bucyrus, and Marie Bonen, 59, housewife, Bucyrus.

Common pleas court: Action for divorce has been filed by Theodore Wolcott, Galion, against Gertrude Wolcott, charging extreme cruelty and gross neglect.

Marie Chandler has been granted a divorce decree from Robert Chandler on grounds of wilful absence.

Action to set aside a deed to Galion real estate has been filed by Jay F. Wirick against Levi Wirick, Jay F. Wirick, guardian of Levi Wirick, and Mabell Wirick.

BUCYRUS HIGH REDMEN CRIPPLED

BUCYRUS—A team crippled by illness and injury will go to Galion tonight for the second NCO football tilt, in which three Bucyrus first stringers will not appear. A fourth member of the squad will also be benched because of an injury.

Out of tonight's lineup will be Teynor, Chandler, Davis and Teets. The return of Chuck Shuck who received a shoulder injury before the season opened, was announced by Coach Nick Wasylik.

OBSERVE GALION PARENTS' NIGHT

Band to Stage Show Between Halves of Game Tonight With Bucyrus.

GALION — Parents' night will be observed tonight at the Galion high school football gridiron when Bucyrus comes to Galion for their traditional rival game. During the half Director George Rule said that the band will present a variety show entitled "Shoulder Arms," featuring the drum majorettes in a rookie parade. The grand finish will be a salute to the U. S. air forces with the playing of the "The Air Squadron Formation."

Assisting Director Rule will be Willard Chubb, student director, and Drum Major Earl Heiby. The majorettes and color bearers are June Thayer, Genevieve Pickering, Shirley Knable, Virginia Herr, Aase Oxaal, Verna Mae Lowe, Janice Egner, Winona Lehman, Agnes Harbourt, Lillian Chase, Virginia Shaw, and Phyllis Lingo.

Coach Lymper has announced that he has revised his starting lineup. Those who will start the game are Ken Deisch and Bob Stoner, ends; Charley Griebling and Capt. Val Ramsey, tackles; Herb Durtschi and Russell Sipes, guards; Sam Chinni, center; Emory Shaffer, quarterback; Paul Harsh and Henry Stough, halfbacks; and Harold Hoffman, fullback.

Coach Lymper is expecting a hard game. Last year's game between the two teams resulted in a 6-6 tie and 1939 was the last time the Orangemen scored a victory over the Bucyrus team, when they won with a score of 13 to 7. In 22 years of play Galion has won 10 games and tied four, while Bucyrus has won eight.

FINED TWICE

GALION — Vernon McClure, of Mansfield, was held in the Galion city jail Wednesday night and was fined $2 and costs Thursday morning in Mayor William Amann's court on charges of drunken and disorderly conduct.

He was released at 11:30 a. m and at 12:20 was arrested again on the same charges. Again he was fined in Mayor Amann's court, and paid the same fine.

MASON HONORED

BUCYRUS — Royal Arch Masons, in convention in Columbus this week, honored a Bucyrus member, Clem A. Beal, sales manager for the W. A. Riddell company, by electing him to the post of grand principal sojourner of the state organization.

APPEARANCE CANCELED

BUCYRUS—Orders from headquarters were responsible for the cancellation of the first public appearance of the recently formed dance band of the 753rd Engineers at Camp Millard, which was scheduled to make its debut at Greenlawn tavern east of Bucyrus Thursday night.

DOCTORS GIVE HEALTH TALKS TO WILLARD FEDERATED CLUBS

WILLARD — Dr. Wilbur Lawrence of Norwalk, Huron county health commissioner, and Dr. Martha Koehue of Columbus, state nutritionist, were speakers at a meeting sponsored by Federated Clubs in the social hall at the Presbyterian church Wednesday evening.

Members of the Music Study club sang a group of songs accompanied at the piano by Mrs. John T. Wilson.

Dr. Lawrence spoke of the county-wide program on "Preventive Medicine." He stressed the importance of good health for the duration of the war, pointing out the fact that this community of 8.000 people and a railroad center has but two physicians.

He said that next week he will begin his work in the schools of immunizing for diphtheria, that to be followed by vaccination for small pox and later the patch tests for tuberculosis will be given.

Dr. Koehue stressed the importance of using proper foods to keep well and explained nutrition classes are to be conducted.

SCHEDULES VISIT

CRESTLINE — John McSweeney of Wooster, Democratic candidate for governor of Ohio, will be in Crestline next Tuesday, October 13, and will make a short address at the city hall at four o'clock, according to an announcement made by L. F. Waldbauer, chairman of the Democratic County Executive committee.

Early Music of Church Will Be Heard at Ashland

ASHLAND—The Ashland Musical club will present a program for the public Sunday at 4 p m. at the Presbyterian church. Music of the early church will be featured with Miss Marting, soprano, of Berea, as guest soloist.

A choir composed of members from the club and directed by Miss Benita Short will assist Miss Marting. Other numbers will include organ selections by Miss Jeannette Vanosdall, Mrs. Paul Shank and Miss Ethel Stoufer.

Miss Mabel Zehner will accompany the choir and Mrs. Shank will play the accompaniments for Miss Marting.

A women's trio composed of Misses Harriett McConnell, Patritia Matthews and Janet Morr will also assist with the program.

Robert Keng will play an oboe obligato for the choir's rendition of "Jesu, Joy of Man's Desiring" by Bach. The program will include a number of Bach selections, and Jewish and Russian hymns.

ASHLAND GRINS

ASHLAND—(AP)—This city experienced its first "beefless" day of this war yesterday — but it didn't go meatless. It just grinned.

The 12,000 residents were pledged not to complain, or "beef" about anything. It was the idea of American Legion leaders, who said such "beefless" days would continue every Thursday for the war's duration.

RAISE $70,000

SHELBY — This community of 6,500 persons raised a total of $70,623 for bonds during the month of September, it was revealed today.

The postoffice sold $22,165.15 of this amount, while the banks accounted for $21,950 and the Castamba theater for $3,175.

TOTAL HITS $2,500

BUCYRUS — Bucyrus elementary school pupils purchased $301.05 in war stamps this week and high school students made purchases totaling $187.70 bringing the grand total to $2,502.05 in school purchases this year.

LICENSE ISSUED

ASHLAND — A marriage license has been issued here to William A. Shire, laborer, and Dorothy M. Hummell, Faultless Rubber company, both of Ashland.

Caesarea Speaker

Speaker for the annual homecoming Sunday at Caesarea Church of Christ will be Rev. Sanford C. Mills of Columbus, who will preach at 10:45 a. m. and 2:30 p. m. on his missionary work and experiences. His subject for the morning service will be "Is God Through With the Jew?" A basket dinner will be served at noon and brief messages from visiting pastors and friends will be heard during the afternoon.

WILL CONTINUE GIVING COFFEE, SANDWICHES TO U. S. SERVICE MEN

CRESTLINE—Crestline Service Center held a meeting Wednesday evening in the B. of R. T. hall and made plans to continue the work of serving sandwiches and coffee to the men in service who are passing through Crestline.

Mrs. Nelson Lee was elected to serve as secretary and Mrs. Harry Kraner treasurer.

The president, Mrs. Philip Bausch presided and announced a meeting of the heads of the churches, organizations and representatives of the business houses to be held in the near future.

At this meeting an executive committee will be chosen.

* * *

Plans for a cafeteria supper at the church Oct. 29, were made at a meeting of the Aid society of the Presbyterian church held at the home of Mrs. C. C. Byers. Mrs. E. D. Miller, vice president was in charge of the meeting and Mrs. Sherwood McKean led the devotionals.

ASHLAND WILL LAUNCH FUND DRIVE OCT. 26

High School Principal Heads Combined Community Fund, War Chest Campaign.

ASHLAND—The combined War Chest and Community Fund drive will open Monday, Oct. 26. The goal is $32,900. S. F. Jameson, principal of Ashland High school, who was selected in the spring as chairman for this year's annual Community Fund drive, will serve as chairman of the combined drive.

The Ashland Community Chest helps support Associated Charities, Samaritan Hospital, Y. M. C. A., Salvation Army, Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, Senior and Junior Federations of Women's Clubs and the Ashland Business and Professional Women's Club and has until this year also included the Red Cross subscription.

Under the new national ruling, Red Cross chapters cannot share funds raised by the Community Chest drive. A separate drive for the Red Cross will be conducted next spring.

Authorized agencies which share from the War Chests are British War Relief, United China Relief, Dutch Queen Wilhelmina Fund, Greek War Relief, Polish American Council, Russian War Relief, American Social Hygiene Association, War Prisoners' Aid, National Board of Y. W. C. A. and U. S. O.

This will be Ashland's 14th Community Chest campaign and stickers for homes of contributors and buttons for contributors will show a 2 and 1, signifying two campaigns in one.

GIRL INJURED

Second Child in Two Days Hit By Automobile in Galion.

GALION — The second child to be hit by a car in two days in Galion, Mary Louise Spears, aged 4, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Spears of East Walnut street, suffered only minor injury.

She was crossing the railroad tracks with her mother, when, startled by the warning whistle of a locomotive which was standing on a side track, she broke from her mother's grasp and ran into the middle of the street into the side of a car driven by Fred Reiff of Marion.

The four-year-old received minor cuts about her face. Wednesday evening Larry Cutshall, son of Mr. and Mrs. Darius Cutshall, was hit by an automobile driven by Albert Green of Galion, and was instantly killed.

LOCUST BRINGS GALION ALARM

GALION—Residents of Charles street reported to Galion police Thursday night that there was a break in the nearby high tension wires.

A sharp buzzing noise had them worried. So the police made a search of the area expecting to find a job for the utilities company. They found the trouble after a short survey.

A persistent locust in the vicinity was hard at work stirring up the resulting excitement, and the buzz was identified.

BURIAL TODAY

BUCYRUS—The body of Frank Luce, 68, former Bucyrus resident, who died in his home in Sandusky Tuesday, will be brought to Crawford county for burial in the Chatfield cemetery, today.

Mr. Luce, who served as agent for the Pennsylvania Short Line railroad here for many years, is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Nina Davidson of Sandusky and Mrs. Thelma Haverdill of Cleveland; three brothers, Fred, Spencer and George of Fremont and a sister, Mrs. Minnie Prosser of Wellington.

HOSPITAL NOTES

Dismissed: Harmon Wowash, R. D. 1, Shelby; Mrs. A. F. MacRockerts, Shelby Inn; and Mrs. Aden McFarland, 38 South Gamble street.

ASKED TO REGISTER

MILLERSBURG — Those who have not registered for the nutrition course being offered through the combined efforts of the County Extension office and the F. S. A office, are asked to do so by Saturday, Oct. 10.

RITES SATURDAY

GALION—Funeral services will be held Saturday afternoon from the Gunder funeral home in Marion for Mrs. Emma McManes, 67, former Galion resident. Mrs. McManes died Wednesday in Lima following an illness of eight months.

She was married to Albert McManes in Galion 1899, and lived here for 18 years. Related to Mrs. McManes by marriage are Mrs. Joseph McManes, Mrs. Albert Flannery, and Mrs. Arthur Flannery, of this city.

RE-ELECTED BY MERCHANT GROUP

GALION—Starting his second term of office Arthur Manzer was re-elected to head the Galion Merchants' association at their dinner meeting at Hotel Talbott Thursday night.

Also elected for the second time was Mrs. R. P. Kelley, secretary. J. H. Ulmer was chosen vice president for the coming year and William Goshorn, treasurer.

Plans were laid during the business meeting for a mardi gras to be held Oct. 29 in connection with a bond drive. Prizes at the celebration will be war stamps.

WOMEN IN WAR WORK DISCUSSED

Two Papers Are Presented at Meeting of Progress Club in Galion.

GALION—Mrs. W. C. Deaton presided when the opening fall meeting of the Progress club was held Thursday evening at the home of Mrs. William Dennig. Two papers were presented during the program on the topic of Women in War Industry, one by Mrs. M. A. Povenmire, and the other by Mrs. Deaton.

The musical portion of the program was provided by Mrs. Ella Kanable, who presented two piano numbers, and also accompanied Mrs. George James who sang a vocal solo.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Nussbaum were hosts to members of the Wesleyan class of the Methodist church at their home Thursday night.

After serving as teacher in the Peace Lutheran Sunday school for 35 years, Mrs. Charles Schaefer, of Payne avenue, has presented her resignation to the Sunday school board, because of impaired health. Her present class has been the Lutheran Daughters. She will continue to serve as substitute teacher.

* * *

Final arrangements for the district convention and for the annual Family night were discussed when members of the Pythian Sisters met Thursday night at the Junior Order hall.

Mrs. Jennie Sell, 826 South street, widow of the late Rev. Amos Sell, former Lutheran minister, observed her 97th birthday Thursday at her home.

* * *

Dr. Daniel Postance, Galion dentist, has received his orders to report for service in the U. S. army at Camp Biloxi, Miss., on Wednesday, Oct. 21. Mrs. Postance expects to join her husband at a later date.

CLASS TO MEET

WAR PROGRAM

Foremen to Hear Address By Fifth Corps Lieutenant.

The Mansfield-Shelby Foremen's club will launch its fall and winter program with a "Victory night" meeting Monday at the Mansfield-Leland hotel.

Principal speaker at the dinner meeting will be First Lieut. Joseph S. Deutschle of the Fifth corps command, Fort Hayes, Columbus. He will discuss the importance of civilian production in the war program.

Capt. Glenn L. Bierly of the Mansfield Home Guard unit will be in charge of flag-raising services. The Westinghouse members of the club will arrange the musical program.

Verne Kyle of the Tappan Stove company, the club's new president, will conduct the meeting which will follow a dinner at 6:30 p. m. John Vrbanac of the Mansfield Tire and Rubber company is the club secretary.

DOUBLY FORTUNATE

TOLEDO (UP)—Isadore Greenberg isn't sorry thieves paid his car a visit. They were frightened away before the tires were taken off the wheels and in their rush they left behind a brand new set of someone else's tires.

SCRAPPIN' SPIRIT

From the News-Journal

Friday, Sept. 25th

When it comes to bringing in the scrap four junior grade pupils who termed themselves "Junior Commandos", set a precedent for the rest of the city. In fact they went the people of Nebraska one better in the averaging per capita collection of scrap the past summer. The quartet included Frank and Gordon Black. Country Day school pupils. Stephen Henkel. Woodland school, and Teddy Bullock, seventh grader at Appleseed school and the senior of the other three boys by several years. Using Raemelton Farm as the site for their drive the boys collected approximately three tons of scrap that included old machinery they took apart for the purpose. The sale amounted to $16 which was divided equally among the four workers after each had pledged himself to buy only war stamps with his share.

Sunday, Oct. 4th

Life in a wheel chair didn't stop 12-year-old Joann Dayl Rinehart, Oak road, from participating in the war effort. Through her direction and a little battery of hard-working helpers, all less than 12 years old, the Oak Road Victory club collected 1,000 pounds of scrap.

Rounding up her two sisters, Marilyn, 9, Sonia May, 3, and three neighborhood playmates, Mary Stout and Joan and Jacqueline Gordon, the young leader fired her group to get in the scrap.

She manipulated her wheel chair to the scene of action whenever possible and supervised the collection of rubber, metal and paper. Not only that but she drafted her father, M. B. Rinehart, to transport the collection to a Mansfield junk yard.

CHAPTER XVI

Jud had said, truly, that memories were no good because they could not talk to you or make you laugh or touch you. Temple wondered now if he had learned, as she had, that they were tormenting shadows from which there was no escape . . . even as there was no escape from the summer heat which descended, like a plague, upon Washington. Her life went on in its routine way as though she were in a deep groove made bearable by letters from Jud and from home.

It seemed to her a long time before she began to live again after he left, to feel hot or cold, to taste or to see. Each day she sat at her typewriter in the large room; each night she went back to the house to sit in the same chair at dinner and then to go to her room to write or to sit again, looking into space, remembering those three days in May or what Jud had written last.

His letters were brief and hurriedly written. The training was rigid, the food fair, the men a "good lot"; but getting up at five brought out the worst in him. Usually his letters consisted of two paragraphs, the first containing a terse report of his activities, the second his thoughts of her, ardent and sweet. Her letters to him were much longer and more carefully written, even though the thermometer hovered near the century mark. She wrote beautiful things which she did not believe herself capable of expressing. Yet in none of them was she his wife.

She had seen Paula only once for luncheon because Paula was leaving Washington for the summer to visit friends in various places. They had met in the restaurant, Paula sweeping in like a colorful tempest. Temple had wondered whether Paula would ask questions. But she didn't. She looked at her as she had always looked at her—as though Temple were a child to whom she was devoted. Paula was full of talk of herself and the summer, so the hour passed quickly.

When they were about to leave, Paula said, "You'll hear from me from time to time. Postcards. And if you need me, write me at my last address on the last postcard you receive. You make me feel more of a parasite than ever . . . running away from the heat while you have to stay and take it." Then Temple had said, "Everything is all right with me, Paula. I'm still glad we did it." And Paula had said, smiling, "My little roof was honored, darling."

The people in the house thought her free since Jud came no more to wait restlessly in the sitting-room for her to join him. Thus to the young men in the house who had been conscious of her from the first she was "back in circulation." Merritt Brown, with whom she ate breakfast and dinner, was the first to ask her one evening in June: "Are you doing anything Saturday night, Temple? If you aren't, I'd like you to meet some friends of mine who are driving over from Baltimore to go dancing."

"I'm sorry but I can't," she said.

"Another time then?" he asked as they parted amiably in the hall.

When Abby said, "You should go out with other men, Temple. Oh I know I don't, but I'm different. Miles is the only man who ever wanted to take me out but you . . . Besides, the boys at the camps want dates and it's a patriotic duty to make yourself available. It doesn't mean that you are disloyal."

Temple had answered in the only way she could with a lameness that shamed her, "But I don't want to, Abby. I'm not interested."

When Merritt Brown was refused the third time, he passed the word around to the other young men who accepted it as a challenge. Thus she became a target for invitations. Some telephoned; others approached her in person and one young man was certain that he would relate success when he gave her a lift and suggested that rather than return to the house for dinner they go some place else. But Temple said truthfully that she was expecting a telephone call from home that night and must be there.

So it became not flattering, but embarrassing to refuse. An answer was not always quickly forthcoming, and once or twice she had fumbled for words to express her regrets. Moreover, a few who had been rejected neglected to be courteous after that and others regarded her with defiance mixed with pretended amusement when she entered the dining room. Only Merritt continued to be the same. One day in July they met a few blocks from the house and walked together. He said, prefacing his words with a chuckle, "I'd like to ask you something. You've turned me down three times I've asked you for a date. I could understand that if you didn't turn down everyone else."

Temple said, "I'm making myself generally unpopular in the house. I know. But I . . ."

He looked at her and smiled. "For the duration?" Temple nodded. Then he said, "That's a big order for what seems to be a long war. A crowd of us is going swimming on Sunday and taking along a picnic lunch. How about coming along?"

"Well, how about it?" she thought. "To dive into cold water, to feel genuinely hungry after a swim, to see woods and sand and a sunset." She said, "All right."

So the unapproachable Temple went swimming in Chesapeake bay on Sunday. "It isn't wrong," she kept telling herself. "It isn't wrong, is it, Jud? It's so hot in the city. I can't always be alone. Where are you this afternoon? Where are you and what are you doing?"

After that afternoon at the beach when they discovered that she was really not unapproachable but rather shy and that she looked as good in a bathing suit as they had thought she would and that in the cruel daylight glare she was even lovelier-looking than in the dim lights in the house her refusals had to begin all over again. That they began to leave on vacations shortly after saved her from what might have been an intolerable situation.

Abby went to Virginia Beach, Merritt to Lake George. Paula sent postcards from Maine . . . In Washington the sidewalks were soft from heat and the boarding house was almost empty.

The war was spreading. And there were still people who said that it was no concern of ours that brave men died and people starved and intolerance was turned into a whip.

For Temple life was bearable because there had been three days of happiness in May and there would be October. In October when—heaven grant it would be cooler and her savings would have accumulated, she would go to Jud. She denied herself every luxury and even some necessities in order to send her usual stipend home and to save enough to take her to Jud. She walked to work and back and at noon had only a cool drink for luncheon. A quarter lost in her purse and found was cause for great inner rejoicing. Never had money been so important. But no amount of love or longing could take her to Jud now. Only money. It seemed to her then that her life was concentrated on fighting the heat and thinking of money.

Temple's mother was begging her to come home for a week-end. Finally she weakened and took a coach one Friday night and aroused her family from bed early the next morning. They received her noisily, affectionately and tearfully.

"You're thinner, child," Grandmother Hallett said as they sat for hours around the breakfast table. "You don't eat enough bread."

Allison, chin in hand, worshipped her. "Oh Temple don't go back! Don't ever go back! I won't let you go back. Guess what? I did figure skating this year."

DOG HEARS PLANES FIRST

PORTLAND Ore (UP) Pat Olson, aircraft observer at a national forest post reports his young dog is helping out by barking when he hears an airplane motor, which is some time before human ears detect the sound. Olson says his helper pays no attention to truck motors that fool the human observers occasionally.

Tire Rationing Begins to Effect Parking Receipts

Rationing of tires and conservation of gasoline are reflected in September parking meter receipts, according to a report submitted by the Richland Trust company, auditing agent, to Service Director Fred B. Wolff.

Collections for the month totaled $3,326.35 as compared to $3,556.89 for August. September collection was for a 26-day count while August had two additional days yet observers see the war restrictions as the major factor in the reduction.

Total for the first nine months of 1942 is $36,105.92. In the monthly "take" from the parking "slots" the fund included $1,723.40 in pennies, $1,588.75 in nickels and $14.20 in dimes.

STAGE FESTIVAL

Sons of Herman Sponsors Program At Hall Saturday.

Members of the Sons of Herman will stage their annual grape festival at the lodge hall, Orange street and Central avenue, beginning at 8 p. m. Saturday. The hall is being decorated with seasonal fruits and flowers in pursuance of an ancient custom.

Music will be furnished by Frankie Miller's polka band. Proceeds of the harvest dance will be placed in a benefit fund. Arrangements are in charge of Jacob Schmidt and Jacob Gaubatz.

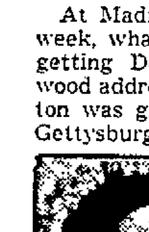
BROADWAY

—By Dorothy Kilgallen

The $64 Questions.

(Shoot the Query to Me, Dearie)

At Madison Square Garden last week, what army biggie was busy getting Dorothy Lamour's Hollywood address while Charles Laughton was giving out with Lincoln's Gettysburg address? . . . Will Jim Farley become chairman of the national Democratic committee and restore harmony all around?



Kilgallen

Which is harder to get—a pair of nylon stockings or a moving van? . . . Is Vinton Freedley calling off the Ethel Merman musical? . . . Did you know that Jean Gabin was sad when Michele Morgan got married, because they were once a big romance in France?

Have you heard about the professional Nazi who is "telling all" to Washington — because he changed his mind when his son enlisted with the U. S. army?

* * *

Aren't Eleanor Hall and Phil Ammidown a heart toddy? . . . Is it true lady extras will wear male attire in Hollywood "long shots" in the future — because of the shortage of men? . . . Which member of the "Vickie" cast will marry a famous man this week?

Did you know that Sydney Smith, once Lillian Bond's husband, is now a gob? . . . Is it just a silly rumor, or is Loretta Young quitting films after her current commitments are fulfilled?

Is it true that Al Jolson has put on nine pounds since he got back from that soldier-show tour? . . . What are Renee De Marco and Mitchell Leisen huddling about? . . . What screen star has the town's most unpopular husband? . . . Did you ever see anything like the way Tommy and Jimmy Dorsey have become buddies, after that long feud? . . . Don't you wish you had a fireplace in every room?

Do you know the reason (it's a giggle) why all the salesgirls want to wait on Martha Raye when she's buying clothes? . . . Have the Will Osbornes' reconciled? . . . Did you know that Victor Mature spent his ten days in the brig—for insubordination — writing a piece called "Women Who Were Unkind to Me," a humorous account of his trials and tribulations with gals who didn't like him?

Have you heard the funny story about Anita Colby's date with George Sanders? . . . Would you call "Wine, Women and Song" the burnt toast of Broadway? . . . Did you know that ice skating starts in Rockefeller Center next week? (Brrrr!)

* * *

Don't you think khaki-colored girdles are carrying patriotism too far? . . . Is the Washington post-election theme song, "There'll Be Some Changes Made?" . . . How will Tommy Riggs' non-existent "Betty Lou" (she's only his voice) be photographed on the screen in the picture he's making?

Did you know that since Marie MacDonald and Bruce Cabot have cancelled their Las Vegas reservations, George Guinle, the Brazilionaire, is her Good Neighbor?

* * *

If Joe Stalin comes to this country will Leon and Eddie's give him a Sunday night celebrity party? . . . Wasn't Carmen Amaya supposed to be in the film version of "Panama Hattie"? . . . Doesn't the idea of a movie based on the life of Mark Twain bore you a little?

Does Mayor LaGuardia know that a Broadway bookmaker is willing to bet even money that Wendell Willkie is the next Democratic presidential candidate?

Isn't the selection of a gal as "Miss Perfect Tonsils" the height of something or other? . . . Did you know that Hank Hart, the artist who created the new children's book sensation, "Koko's Circus," will reap a fortune from it —at 66?

Is it true Artie Shaw is giving the big-time bandleaders the jitters by trying to recruit their best musicians for his navy band? . . . Is the Betty Hutton-Perce Westmore flirtation getting serious? . . . Is Paramount reopening its old New York studios for the production of short subjects?

Don't you love to hear Morton Downey sing "Melancholy Baby"? . . . Won't the presence of all those soldier boys inspire a lot of girls to vacation in Miami?

* * *

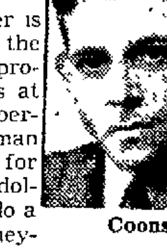
Does that heiress know that her beau (most people think they're engaged or even married) is actually the husband of another lady —and a papa, besides? . . . Do you know that Cabot and Dresden, the dancers, own an alligator and it's getting so big they're getting scared?

HOLLYWOOD

—By Robbin Coons

HOLLYWOOD — Mr. Val Lewton, a gentleman with a sense of humor, has the horrors.

They were wished on him by Mr. Charles Koerner, a gentleman with a sense of business and movie titles, and Mr. Lewton is having a wonderful time.



Coons

Mr. Koerner is the latest in the long line of production chiefs at RKO. Mr. Koerner, a showman with an eye for a showman's dollar, is out to do a job of money-making for the movie lot where, bearing out the old saying, nothing has been permanent except change.

Mr. Koerner picked on Val Lewton, who used to be story editor for David O. Selznick, to make some quick money via the horrors. That made Val Lewton a producer. "A producer," as the Great Selznick told Val, "is the only one in pictures who has any fun."

Charlie Koerner thought people were in the mood for horror pictures now. Charlie Koerner thought up some titles: "The Cat People," "Seventh Victim," "The Leopard Man," "I Walked with a Zombie." All Val Lewton has to do is turn out pictures to fit the titles. He has finished one.

"The Cat People' is all about a lovely girl (Simone Simon) who goes through life expecting momentarily to turn into a cat, because her mother did. And—what do you know? — she does. She's going along peaceful as you please, minding her knitting, but the minute love (Ken Smith) hits her, she can't be sure any more, because that's when cat people turn into cats. So it's a fine, spooky how-do-you-do before the non-cat girl (Jane Randolph) lands her non-cat man.

This, of course, is based on an old Serbian legend—concocted by Val Lewton and writer DeWitt Bodeen.

Horror has led Val Lewton and Bodeen into a picnic of research. They've been reading hundreds of books on the occult, the mysterious, the satanical — and they've learned things! Val can rattle off dozens of odd items about cats, but we'll save those for cat-lovers and another day.

He, too, seriously, is sold on horror, and here's way: "People are worried. There's a war, and whether they know it or not, they're scared. It's a very real fright—and a horror picture can be the antidote. They can sit in a theater and look at a story that's fantastic, with no connection to reality whatever, and shudder and groan and tremble just as if it were real. It gives us an outlet, a means to sublimate fear."

UMW DELEGATES TAKE UP WAGE HIKE PROBLEM

Federal Request For Longer Working Week Also Up For Consideration.

(By United Press)

CINCINNATI — Delegates to the 37th biennial convention of the United Mine Workers of America today prepared to take up the question of wage increases for 600,000 miners, and the government's request for expanding the work week from five to six days.

President John L. Lewis had told the UWM delegates that higher living costs made bigger pay envelopes a necessity. The union's scale committee has received a request for a $2 a day increase when the union negotiates with operators next year.

Fuel Coordinator Harold L. Ickes has asked for the expanded work week as a measure to aid war production. Some UMW spokesmen have declared that the six-day work week is unnecessary because there is no coal shortage.

Lewis, head of the UMW for 22 years, yesterday won his second test of strnegth during the convention when delegates split bitterly on the question of local autonomy. Previously, he received a vote of confidence when delegates voted to withdraw from the Congress of Industrial Organizations.

They voted to readopt the district autonomy policy in effect since 1938, under which the union's international officers decide which districts shall elect their own officers.

Lewis appealed to the delegates to "help me administer union affairs in this critical period by guaranteeing competent district officers."

His hour-long speech came after four hours of heated debate during which two delegates almost came to blows. Forty-five members spoke on the question and, although a large number voted against it, Lewis ruled that it had carried "by an overwhelming majority."

More than 100 locals had submitted resolutions asking district autonomy. The resolutions committee then incorporated all in one resolution asking reendorsement of the old policy.

SUITS SETTLED

Legal Actions Resulting From Auto Accidents Dropped.

Two damage suits resulting from traffic mishaps in the Mansfield area had been settled for undisclosed amounts and dismissed today in common pleas court.

One of the actions sought $25,000 for the death of Thomas Dugan of Philadelphia, Pa., in an accident March 9, 1940, on U. S. Route 42 northeast of Mansfield.

The suit was filed by Attorney John L. Catlett as administrator of the estate of the accident victim. Defendant was Herbert L. Walters whose car figured in the accident.

Also settled was a $5,240 suit against City Councilman George Kyle in which Katherine Sheetz, Mansfield, asked damages for injuries she suffered in a mishap July 17, 1941, on the Millsborough road. The plaintiff was a passenger in a car which figured in a collision with one driven by Kyle.

DEATH CLAIMS MRS. V. E. OBER

Former Mansfield Resident Dies in Cleveland; Rites Set For Monday.

Mrs. Virgil E. Ober, 38, former Mansfield resident, died Thursday of a heart attack at her home in the Shore House Apartments, Lakewood, O.

Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jesse S. Wainwright, 700 Park avenue west, Mrs. Ober, the former Marie Wainwright, was known for her talent in dancing and during her Mansfield residence gave numerous local recitals.

She was born in Jersey City, N. J., Sept. 2, 1904, and came to Mansfield in 1922. She was married to Virgil E. Ober in 1924 by Rev. Milton Nicola, who had confirmed her into the membership of the Episcopal church at East Orange, N. J.

Graduate of Miss Beard's school in South Orange, N. J., Mrs. Ober was also a graduate of the Mosconio School of Dancing there.

After leaving Mansfield, Mrs. Ober and her husband, district sales manager of the Mansfield Tire and Rubber company, of which her father is sales manager, lived in Roanoke, Va., nine years. They moved to Cleveland one year ago.

Besides her husband and her parents, Mrs. Ober is survived by a brother, Walter S. Wainwright of Pittsburgh, and her grandmother, Mrs. Conrad Hering of Mansfield.

The body will be taken to the Wainwright home Saturday morning and friends may call there until noon Monday.

Funeral services will be conducted Monday at 2 p. m. at the Finefrock Funeral home conducted by Rev. Glenn F. Lewis, rector of Grace Episcopal church. Burial will be in Mansfield cemetery.

OK'S ETHIOPIA

FDR Accepts Selassie's Country Into United Nations.

LONDON — (INS) — President Roosevelt has accepted a request from Emperor Haile Selassie that Ethiopia be recognized as a member of the United Nations in the war against the Axis, the British foreign office announced today.

Haile Selassie recently informed Mr. Roosevelt that his country wished to adhere to the United Nations' declaration and the president has cabled him accepting Ethiopia's cooperation, the announcement said.

CLOSE MONDAY

State Offices to Observe Holiday But Many Will Work.

COLUMBUS —(INS)— State offices will be closed Monday, Columbus day, as the statutes require, but hundreds of state employes will be required to work to keep apace with the war effort, Executive Secretary Don C. Power said today.

American Soldiers Face Court Martial on Murder Charges.

BELFAST — (INS) — Murder charges were filed before a United States army court martial today against two American soldiers.

Corp. Obert G. Jacobs, 20, of Kentucky, and Private Embra Farley, of Arkansas, were accused of slaying Edward Clenaghan, son of a saloon keeper in County Antrim, during a quarrel over the price of liquor.

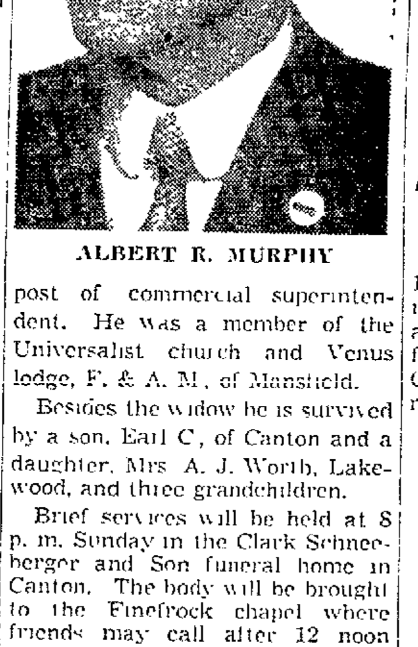
A. R. MURPHY, FORMER SERVICE DIRECTOR, PHONE OFFICIAL, DIES

Albert R. Murphy, 81, former Mansfield service director, election board official and telephone company commercial superintendent died Thursday at his home in Canton after an illness of two weeks.

Mr. Murphy was born near Mansfield in 1861, a son of John and Ann Murphy, early residents of this vicinity. He moved to Mansfield at the time of his marriage to Miss Ann Guile in 1882.

He held various city positions identified with the police department including that of director of public service, and as chief deputy of the Richland county board of elections.

In 1908 he became associated with the Mansfield Telephone company as solicitor, moving to Canton in 1938 when promoted to the post of commercial superintendent. He was a member of the Universalist church and Venus lodge, F. & A. M., of Mansfield.



ALBERT R. MURPHY

Besides the widow he is survived by a son, Earl C., of Canton and a daughter, Mrs. A. J. Worth, Lakewood, and three grandchildren.

Brief services will be held at 8 p. m. Sunday in the Clark Schneeberger and Son funeral home in Canton. The body will be brought to the Finefrock chapel where friends may call after 12 noon Monday.

Services at 3:30 p. m. Monday will be in charge of Rev. Henry Nevin Kerst, Canton. Burial will be in Mansfield cemetery.

PLAN SET UP

Contact 14 Industries in Blood Donor Campaign.

The Red Cross blood donor committee began its contact with Mansfield industries yesterday in behalf of creating a reserve of 1,000 blood donors from which to draw when the Cleveland blood donor mobile unit begins its monthly visits to Mansfield in November.

Although definite dates have not been set for the two-day visit, the blood donor committee hopes to obtain full registration by the end of next week so that the cards may be catalogued and donation hours determined.

According to plans made by two members of the blood donor committee, Mrs. Ephraim Brown and Mrs. Henry Stiles, who conferred with the management of 14 plants yesterday, one person in each industry will be charged with obtaining the registration of workers.

Registration by the general public may be made by telephone instead of personal call at the Red Cross office in an effort to save time and transportation, John H. Finefrock, blood donor chairman, said.

Up and Down THE STREET

"Never a dull moment," might well be a sub-slogan for the Red Cross women's motor corps that will launch a new course of training on stretcher bearing and ambulance loading next week. The corps has just finished a 16-week period of military drill at the Mansfield Armory and the next step of training will be taken under the direction of LeRoy McGinty at the Finefrock funeral home. The initial lesson is scheduled for Tuesday night.

Range-finding, as practiced by the armed forces, is a part of "field service regulations" for geometry pupils of Mansfield senior high school, according to Miss Pearl Danbeck, teacher. On fair days Miss Danback directs the might-be artillery fire officers and others in determining the location and distance of objectives by applying goemetric fromulas. On the campus Japanize targets are outlined by finger sightings and other methods. Geometry and trigonometry are required studies in all schools of fire for the various armed forces. For instance, the range-finder in the valley often must locate and shell the enemy on the other side of the hill, using only his mathematical knowledge.

Fire Chief Charles J. Seeburger contemplates a trip to Columbus and probably on to Cincinnati next week, during which time he will attempt to determine if and when Mansfield can expect delivery on a new pumper purchase of which was provided for in March under the half-mill levy setup. There is some indication, Seeburger says, that the new apparatus may be delivered in December. He cited that in Marion two similar pieces of equipment were ordered 18 months ago while only one has been delivered. Under government orders cities having greater coastal defense problems and vital war industries have first call on all new fire-fighting equipment. The Scioto Ordnance plant at Marion has recently acquired six pumpers under war department priority.

PAY DAY EARLY

AAA Checks Going to Farmers Quicker Than in 1941.

Checks for participation in the 1942 AAA farm program are reaching Richland county farmers at least two months ahead of the first payments received last year, Guy L. Taylor, county AAA chairman, said today.

The checks, which will be mailed direct to the farmer from Cleveland instead of to county AAA headquarters, will reach the county in bunches of about 150 or 200 a week until nearly 2,000 of them have been distributed, Taylor said.

He pointed out that applications for payment are going to state AAA offices at the rate of 150 or 200 a week and payment is made about a month after the applications are approved. Farmers receive the federal money for keeping their crop acreage within allotments and following soil-building practices.

SOLDIERS FLEE GUARDHOUSE

Escape At Cleveland; Police Report Two Are Armed.

CLEVELAND —(AP)— Cleveland police today reported the escape of five army prisoners, two of them probably armed, from the guardhouse at Gray's armory.

One prisoner surrendered. Military police sent out an alarm for the remaining fugitives.

Police Lieutenant Dewitt Barnes said the quintet engineered the escape by cutting through a tile wall of the armory basement during shooting practice in the rifle room adjacent to the guardhouse.

The fugitives, all privates, were among soldiers being held on charges of being A.W.O.L.

GEN. HERSHEY GETS PLEA OF 15 SENATORS

Men From Farm States Fearful of 'Irreparable Loss' to U. S. Food Production.

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON — Fifteen farm state senators petitioned Selective Service Director Hershey today to freeze dairy and livestock workers on the farms for the next three months to prevent "irreparable injury" to food production while a general man-power control program is worked out.

"We are convinced that specific action to halt the continuing drain of manpower from our livestock and dairy farms cannot be delayed longer without seriously impairing the whole war effort," they declared in a letter circulated by Senators Ball (R-Minn) and Brown (D-Mich).

"The number of farm auctions is growing rapidly and hundreds of fine dairy herds are being sold or slaughtered because the owners cannot hold the help essential to continued operation. Unless the trend is halted immediately, a crippling reduction in food production will occur."

The census bureau reported that agricultural employment had declined to 10,200,000 persons, a drop of 1,000,000 between August and September.

Chairman Donald M. Nelson of the War Production Board declared the time was approaching rapidly when the government must decide at what point the limit will be reached in building up the armed forces.

"Until we reach this limit," Nelson said, "it is a question of constant adjustment. Women are coming into war industries and other new sources of manpower are being tapped but sometime we will reach the bottom of the barrel."

There is an "outside limit," he said, on how large an army can be equipped and supplied.

The 15 senators asked General Hershey to direct all local selective service boards to defer for at least 90 days all men engaged in either dairy or livestock production on farms, "such deferment to be cancelled immediately and the men ordered to report for induction if they leave their farm production jobs."

Workers Who Lay Off War Job Get Ironic 'Citation'

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. — (INS) — Several employes who failed to put in full time at the Baker Manufacturing company, which is engaged in war production, got a little taste of grim irony today along with their pay envelopes.

W. C. Staley, president of the firm, enclosed in each of the envelopes a 1000-mark German note of post-World War I vintage and the following "citation:"

"The extra pay attached is for failure to report to work one day last week. The money comes from a country (Germany) that is glad to pay you not to make supplies for our soldiers. When you don't work, you work for the enemy."

REPRESENT CITY AT CONFERENCE

Y. W. C. A. Delegation To Go To Cleveland Meeting.

Mansfield Y. W. C. A. will have representation at the northern Ohio Y. W. C. A. business girls' conference in Cleveland at the Carter hotel starting Saturday.

Four members of Beta Gamma club will attend together with Miss Bertha A. Gregory, executive secretary, who is also in charge of Y. W. C. A. employed girls' groups. The group includes Miss Vivian Roberts and Miss Jean Shively, voting delegates, Miss Mary Baker, Miss Alice Rhoads and Miss Mary K. Welsch, visiting delegates.

Miss Welsch will represent Beta Gamma club on the Saturday evening program when a panel discussion dealing with the influences of war on the 13 communities represented at the conference and their respective Y. W. C. A.'s will be presented.

DIES AT SHILOH

Mrs. Ernest Geiseman, 65, To Be Buried Saturday.

SHILOH — Mrs. Ernest Geiseman, 65, died yesterday at her home near Shiloh. She was a native of this vicinity. Surviving besides the husband are two sons, Donald B. Gilger, of Chesterton, Ind., and O. J. Gilger, of East Gary, Ind.; three sisters, Mrs. Effie Brown, of Greenwich, Mrs. Ray Atwater, of Plymouth, and Mrs. L. G. Sibbett, of Shiloh; six grandchildren and one great grandchild.

Funeral services will be conducted by Rev. Nevin Stover at 10 a. m. Saturday at the McQuate funeral home. Burial will be in Gary, Ind., Monday.

"Pitfalls of Love"

(A Sequel to Marriage Meddlers)

By ADELE GARRISON

The trap door opened in the ceiling of the hideaway basement, and at that instant Carolyn's eyes opened also, but Miss Whitlock and I had intentionally ranged ourselves in front of her as she lay on the floor, so that she did not see Gus lowering the emergency cot to Dicky.

The door closed noiselessly, and Dicky and my father brought the cot over.

Soon Carolyn was lying on the couch, and Miss Whitlock drew a blanket over her.

"Don't talk yet," the nurse said to Carolyn. "I want you to drink something first. You fainted, you know, and you'll have to wait a few minutes before you get back to normal."

For a wonder, Carolyn obeyed without question and docilely sipped the draught, then lay back against the pillow.

"I'll tell you when you may ask questions," the nurse told her, answering the appeal in her eyes. I knew the minutes must have seemed years to the girl before Miss Whitlock, after testing her pulse and breathing, said "You may talk now, but don't try to sit up yet."

Carolyn looked at me with a terrible appeal in her eyes.

"Did I dream it," she asked, "or did Mr. Spencer say—say that man was as good as dead?"

I turned to my father, and he spoke with quiet certainty.

"That is what I said, Carolyn."

"Oh! oh!" she cried, in exactly the tone she had used before she swooned.

Loathes Young Gangster.

She must have loved the young gangster, after all, I thought.

"Please believe me, child, I am truly sorry for you," I said. "I did not realize you loved him."

She flung her hands away from her face and stared at me.

"Love him!" she exclaimed. "Love him? I loathe him, and I can't be sorry he's going to die or be imprisoned for life. I can't I tell you. I'm glad, glad!"

There was something so terrifying in her ghoulish joy that I involuntarily shrank away from her.

"Well, I'm glad to know you are not in love with him," I said. "Now lie back and rest a bit. We'll talk about this a little later."

As I turned away she flung out a hand and caught mine.

"You must listen to me," she said. "There's something I must do right away."

"Presently, presently," Miss Whitlock said with quiet authority. "You must lie still for five minutes. Then, if your reactions are all right, as I think they will be, you may sit up and say anything to Mrs. Graham you wish, providing—"

She stopped, and Carolyn finished her sentence.

"Providing I keep a civil tongue in my head, I suppsse you mean," she said. "Don't worry! I know when I'm up against a stone wall."

Question on What Is Love Asked Author

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

Never have I been so flattered as when a friend—a college professor, at that—asked me to define Love.

He's been giving a highly successful course of lectures on Love and Marriage in a co-educational college for the last six years. He reminds me that at the turn of the century, when he was a college student, this column anticipated what psychoanalysts did later—freeing of complexes through confession. In those old days we used to call it "writing letters about love."

Perhaps unconsciously, when I inaugurated this column, I may have recalled the wisdom of my old grandmother who, whenever she felt irritated and wanted to "reason with" (when it happened to me I called it "scolding")—any of her ten children, she wrote them a letter and then put the letter in the fire. It made her feel ever so much better to get the matter off her chest and it didn't offend any of the ten who adored her.

After considering the college professor's question, I wrote him: "Who could define Love? No one, to date, has been able to give the perfect answer. Genius has made approaches to a definition but the true essence of Love seems to have evaded translation."

The Brownings whose love was considered perfect had this to say. Mrs. Browning in "The Sonnets From the Portuguese":

"I love thee with a love I seemed to lose
With my lost saints,—I love thee with the breath,
Smiles, tears, of all my life!—and, if God choose,
I shall but love thee better after death."

And Robert Browning, her husband, wrote:

"God be thanked. The meanest of his creatures boasts two soul sides — one to face the world with, one to show a woman he loves her."

Plato, who believed in platonic friendship, summed it up: "At the touch of love, everyone becomes a poet." Centuries later, Madame De Stael:

"Love is a symbol of eternity. It wipes out all sense of time, destroying all memory of a beginning and all fear of an end."

Shakespeare, who certainly knew a thing or two about love, wrote:

"Except I be by Sylvia in the night
There is no music in the nightingale."

In another mood he wrote:

"Men have died from time to time and worms have eaten them, but not for love."

And Antoine Bret: "The first sigh of love is the last of wisdom."

I recalled to my friend, the professor, if he had read "Napoleon as Lover and Husband," he might enjoy this quotation from one of Napoleon's letters: "I have never loved anyone for love's sake, except perhaps Josephine—a little."

HOROSCOPE

For Saturday, October 10.

A difficult and trying day is predicted with much to test the temper as well as the powers of reserve, discretion, moderation and sagacity. From many directions comes a challenge to such virtues. Extravagance and various forms of indulgence may be carried to extremes by love of luxury or other acts of indiscretion, either in business or in social matters. With caution and wisdom there are prospects of benefits from superiors.

Those whose birthday it is may be prepared for a year in which they are liable to be tested from many directions, business, financial, social and domestic. This may come from a proclivity to over-indulgences. Extravagance may lead to regrets, penalties and piqued pride. With moderation, high principle and purpose there might be a fair degree of progress, with superiors or employers assisting.

A child born on this day might be able to enjoy a useful, progressive and worthy life if taken in hand early in life for inculcation into proper restraints.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

By Shepard Barclay

"The Authority on Authorities"

SET IT UP TO KILL IT

Your opening lead, or perhaps the opener and second lead, may set up a card for the declarer in the dummy which can be used later by him to discard some loser from his own hand. If you know that both he and your partner are now out of the suit, you have a chance to kill it off then by leading that suit again, enabling your partner to ruff it and compelling the declarer to over-ruff. By so doing, you not only prevent the declarer from employing that set-up card usefully, but your partner's trump can sometimes force out such a high trump from the declarer's hand that it sets up a trump trick for you.

How painful it was to a very skilled player, who was kibitzing West, to see that worthy present the contract to declarer as an outright gift. He probably led his heart K and, when East gave him the 7, decided to repeat the suit with the A, which was eminently correct bridge, for it was sure from the 7 play that East could not have more than two hearts.

Next, however, he made his fatal slip. Finding that East had held a singleton would have caused him to give East a third-round ruff, he said later. But seeing that both East and declarer had two, and were now out of the suit, caused him to switch to the suit his partner had bid, his singleton spade 8. The declarer won that, dropped trumps, cashed the rest of the spades and along the way discarded his losing club on the heart J, making his contract.

When West saw the heart J set up, with both East and South now blank, his job was to lead the suit again so that East's ruff could compel an over-ruff, preventing the later discard of that losing club. It would have accomplished still more. East's diamond 8 could not have been over-ruffed except with the K or Q. That would have set up a sure trump trick for West, so that the contract would have been beaten two tricks, with two in hearts, one in clubs and one in diamonds.

MARINE'S WIFE, SON GET HELP

CRESTLINE — Mrs. Warner Ward and infant son Patrick Warner were dismissed from Emergency hospital Thursday and taken to the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Waltz, West Main street.

Mrs. Ward was taken from a Pennsylvania passenger train to the hospital when she became ill when returning to her home in Minneapolis, Minn., after visiting her husband, who is with the Marine corps located at Baltimore, Md.

When she leaves Crestline the latter part of the week to return home she will be accompanied as far as Chicago by Mrs. Waltz.

For Calming Child After Bad Dream

By GARRY CLEVELAND MYERS, Ph.D.

Some children from 2 to 6, or older, have night terrors, crying or screaming out while apparently asleep. You may find the child's eyes wide open though he also seems to be in deep slumber. Later he may tell you of a horrible dream he had.

Go to the youngster so engulfed with terror. Awaken him. A good way is to apply a cold, damp sponge or cloth to his face or hands. Next day have your doctor see this child. Be sure the doctor examines his nose, throat and ears, checks on his digestive state and diet and makes the examination thorough. There may be a physical cause that only a doctor can correct. If physical causes are ruled out by the doctor, your job will be to work on the child, yourself, and the whole family atmosphere.

Fears and Anxieties.

It may not be easy to protect this child from fear stimulation by other children and adults in the community. The war news, talk about war and prevailing anxieties over it tend to increase fears and anxieties in the growing child. Be cautious about radio programs, family conversation and attitudes in the child's presence.

See that the youngster does not grow too weary and excited by day. Remember that some sensitive children can be over-stimulated. Get him out of doors with other children about his age, practically daily but not too long at a time. Require of him quiet periods, especially for half an hour before the evening meal. Try to have a calm, quiet, happy mealtime with soft voices and without emotional disturbances over his eating.

Direct him more to building with blocks, coloring, drawing, cutting and pasting, sawing and driving nails and making things with tools.

If there is another child in the family, look into the possibilities of jealousy as a contributing factor, making sure the night-terror child feels he is loved and worthy. Father as well as mother should minister to his needs, read to him, play with him and care for him at night.

Try to reduce punishments and make the few that seem necessary more effective. Be generous with affection and worthy approvals. Celebrate successes in this child. Try to get more rest and recreation yourself so you can be more relaxed and serene in his presence.
